North County Mayors Study Need For More Emergency Hospitals

Negotiations to provide north San Mateo County with emergency hospital treatment are currently underway with Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco, Mayor Joe Verducci of Daly City said yesterday.

The mayor met with three other Peninsula mayors Friday in a meeting called by Jim Fitzgerald, county supervisor representing north San Mateo County and heard a report that San Francisco would be unable to open the services of its Alameda Emergency Hospital to San Mateo County patients.

Attending the meeting, besides Verducci and Fitzgerald, were Mayor Bob Price of San Bruno, Mayor George Mason of Pacifica, and Mayor Leo Ryan of South San Francisco.

County Manager E. R. Stallings pointed out last week that Kaiser Hospital has emergency facilities now and that the cost of contracting with it for emergency services for indigents would be minimal.

Indigents are cases which will receive emergency treatment at the South San Francisco hospital if negotiations are successful and the only cases for which the county is legally responsible.

Stallings also said that it would be too expensive to subsidize an emergency service at Junipero Serra Hospital in Colma, which, according to Mayor Verducci yesterday, will be closed "we think, within a year," to make room for a new freeway.

Mayor Verducci also said the kind of treatment provided in San Francisco and San Mateo counties are entirely different, explaining that in San Francisco emergency hospitals are tax-supported while San Mateo does not provide emergency treatment at no cost to anyone except indigent people and welfare cases.

"North county residents must realize that San Mateo County provides no free medical care, except in welfare cases," the mayor said.

He added that as far as Junipero Serra Hospital was concerned, there had been a lot of misinformation regarding the role and function of the hospital.

"Primarily, it is not a hospital," he said. "It doesn't have the facilities; it is essentially a private doctor's office."

County Manager Stallings said

last week that "the mistake that has been made is that people go to Junipero Serra Hospital thinking they can get emergency treatment. Junipero Serra Hospital is not, in effect, a hospital at all. It is nothing more than a medical clinic."

Mayor Verducci said emergency hospital treatment has never been a local service but of federal, state and county governments.

Where time is not essential, the mayor said, the injured should find out what facilities are available to them now and make arrangements for possible future medical emergencies.

The mayor also said families should find out what facilities are available to them now and make arrangements for possible future medical emergencies.

Verducci Speaks At JayCee Dinner

The Daly City Colma Junior Chamber of Commerce held a gala dinner party at the Cypress Hills Golf Club July 3, guest of honor and featured speaker of the evening was Daly City's Mayor, Joe Verducci.

Mayor Verducci expressed how pleased he was that the young men of Daly City and Colma had joined together to organize the Junior Chamber and went on to point out some of the various projects the Jaycees could work on.

He pledged the whole-hearted support of the City Council on any of the projects undertaken and expressed a sincere desire to have the Jaycees work hand-in-hand with the council.

Other distinguished guests included the National Director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Vincent Rays, who came in from Los Angeles especially to welcome Daly City Colma into the National Organization, State Vice President, Howard Looney, and President of the San Francisco Chapter, George Reppas.

Charter night for the Jaycees is scheduled for the second week in September and men interested in becoming members should contact Marvin Colia, Secretary at PL 6-3706 or Dick Owens at PL 6-9323 for information.

Young men from all walks of life are urged to join. Jaycee President Joe Bavarese states that the most important qualification for membership in the Jaycees is a sincere desire for self and community development.

Knowles Avenue And Los Banos To Be One-Way

The big wrecker will move into Daly City this year as improvements get underway on Knowles and Los Banos avenues.

The $500,000 project will entail routing Knowles and Los Banos avenues into one-way streets.

Assistant city engineer Edward Dominion said the one-way traffic would improve the route between Mission street and the proposed Junipero Serra freeway.

Blessing Of The Ground Held At Hospital Site

The "blessing of the ground," on which will rise the modern new Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City was a unique feature of the al fresco picnic luncheon held at the summit of the 11-acre hospital site here on Monday, July 2.

The luncheon was arranged by the Daughters of Charity in honor of the Most Rev. Joseph T. McGucken, Archbishop of San Francisco, to give the Archbishop his first view of the hospital's new location, and to meet personally with many of the prominent community leaders of both San Francisco and San Mateo counties who are assisting the Sisters in the development of this project.

More than 50 of the top business, professional and civic leaders of both counties, and of all faiths, were represented in the attendance at the outdoor, tent-covered luncheon.

The Honorable Judge George B. Harris, chairman of the board of governors for the new Mary's Help Hospital, served as master of ceremonies.

The mayors, councilmen and city managers of Daly City, South San Francisco and Pacifica, and members of the board of supervisors, together with top San Mateo county industrialists were present.

Included were Joseph Verducci, mayor of Daly City; Leo J. Ryan, mayor of South San Francisco; Mrs. Jean Fassler, representing George Mason, Pacifica; T. Louis Chess and James V. Fitzgerald of the San Mateo County board of supervisors.

The picturesque ground-blessing ceremony was performed by His Excellency, Archbishop McGucken, at the very summit of the 500-foot hilltop tract which commands a breath-taking view of the Bay area in all directions. At this point, the Sisters have mounted a beautiful shrine of "Our Lady," patroness of Mary's Help Hospital, with her arms extended in a gesture of protection over both counties, parts of which will be in the 150,000 population service area of this modern medical and nursing facility.

The hospital itself will be a non-profit, general community institution open to all residents regardless of age, religion, nationality or color. Charges will be kept to a minimum, with free or part-free care extended to the poor within the financial capacity of the hospital. Alert and efficient emergency service will be available 24 hours around the clock.

Dedicated particularly to the service of the sick and the poor, the Daughters of Charity have a tradition of more than 300 years of humanitarian experience in this field. They maintain hospitals, schools and orphanages literally throughout the world.

The same humanitarian spirit of service which has characterized the old Mary's Help Hospital for more than 50 years in the Mission district of San Francisco will be maintained when the new 400-bed hospital is opened — early in 1965.

Noted Scientist Visits Classes

The "World of Fish" classes taught by Mrs. Beatrice Maine and Mr. Bruce Russell of Benjamin Franklin Summer School were recently visited by Dr. Earl Heald, a noted ichthyologist, connected with the Steinhart Aquarium and the moderator for the television series, "Science In Action."

Dr. Heald discussed with the children the subjects of fish and their habits. He brought a collection of realia for the children.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT IS LAUNCHED

The 90th street assessment program to improve some 44 lots in Broadmoor under a city-county agreement, was launched Monday night by the Daly City council.

City Manager Edward Frank said the area would benefit by the assessments through the installation of new water mains, new sidewalks, construction of a 60-inch storm sewer to eliminate washouts in the off-flooded area and installation of street lights to curb vandalism.

B. Shepley, a resident of 384 92nd street, maintained that the assessments were "unfair and arbitrary."

However, city attorney Paul Hupf pointed out that the funds derived from the assessments are to be used to benefit the area and would not be going into the city's pocket.

Authority for the assessments, he added, was given by the city by the county board of supervisors.

Tax Collection
Deputy tax collector Evelyn Mosman announced that $54,731 is to be collected for the 1962-63 year in unsecured personal property taxes.

The unsecured personal property taxes are now being collected using the 1961-62 rate of $1.48 per hundred assessed valuation.

She stated that $53,646,855 is the total of assessed valuation, less exemptions, on general tax for the 1962-63 fiscal year; $3,698,100 is the total of assessed valuation, less exemptions, on unsecured personal property tax for the 1962-1963 fiscal year.

Salary Hike
The city council adopted a blanket five per cent salary hike for city employees for the year 1962-63. Raises will be negotiated for the positions of chief of police, fire chief, city manager, city engineer, director of finance, librarian, and director of recreation.

Doelger Request
Monday, July 23, is the date set for a hearing on a request by Henry Doelger Builders, Inc., to rezone property on Fairlawn Court from unclassified and single family residential into multi-residential for the purpose of constructing an apartment building.

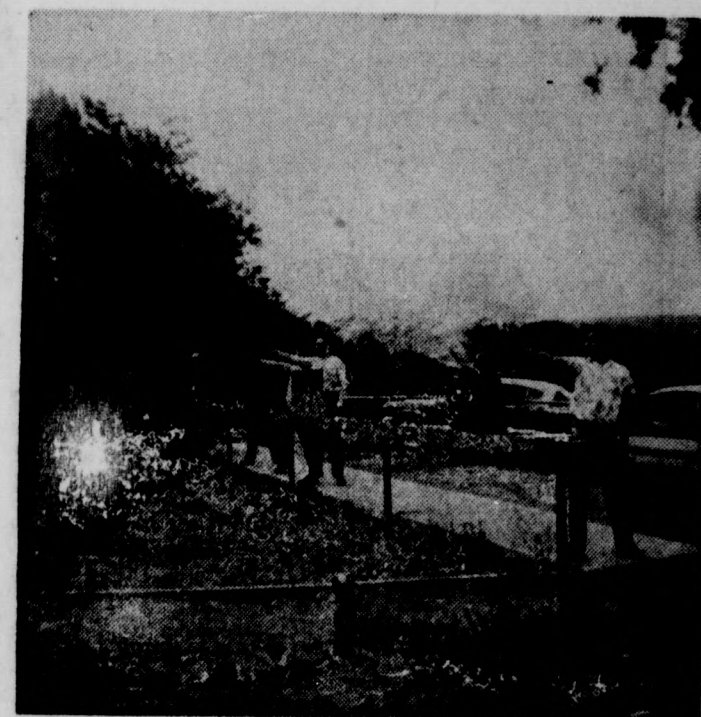

The proposal failed to carry a majority vote in the planning commission.

White Street Extension
A resolution to urge the county to consider the necessity for an additional north-south road to meet Park Plaza boulevard and connect Westlake and Broadmoor was okayed by the council.

The connecting road would travel from 8th street in Broadmoor and connect onto Park Plaza.

A purchasing ordinance was adopted, providing for the city's purchase and sale of supplies, services and equipment.

Also adopted was a uniform building code — 1961 edition — with amendments. This replaces the 1958 code and provides that all new homes must now have shatterproof safety glass in patio doors, due to the accident hazard caused by the regular glass.

Wife Shoots Husband —Another Woman

An understanding between a common-law Pacifica couple erupted into a violent end Saturday when Ethel Claire Mobley, 48, shot her husband, Orland.

The woman, who said the understanding was that she would shoot him if he went out with other women, made when they first started living together three years ago, was arraigned Monday after Pacifica police booked her on assault with intent to commit murder.

The victim was taken to Peninsula Hospital, where his condition was described as "good."

Mrs. Mobley told Pacifica police that her husband, who became 42 on Monday, had told her the Sunday before that he was going to leave her. She said she watched him enter the apartment of the other woman that day but did not discuss the incident after he returned to their home in the Pedro Point area.

On Saturday afternoon, however, after they had begun drinking, Mrs. Mobley said her husband pushed her after which she shot him with a shotgun, inflicting wounds on his thighs and abdomen.

At the time she was arrested, Mrs. Mobley said she was not sorry for what she had done and instead asked for a copy of the Bible while she was in jail. She said she did not mean to kill him, but to teach him a lesson.

When asked why she did not leave him, Mrs. Mobley said she couldn't because she was unemployed. She also would not identify the other woman. Bail was set at $25,000.

Youth Leaps To Safety In $4000 Fire

A 15-year-old Daly City youth leaped eight feet to the ground Wednesday in a fire that caused an estimated $4,000 damage at 899 East Market street.

Hospitalized at Junipero Serra hospital from the effects of smoke inhalation was Bertram Vasquez, who was asleep alone in his home when a fire broke out in an overstuffed chair in the living room.

Officer Neil Hammermann said when he arrived in front of the home he could see the youth in a living room window almost surrounded by flames. He said he called the boy to jump but Vasquez turned around and disappeared into the smoke-filled interior.

A few minutes later, the youth reappeared and, following Hammermann's directions, jumped about eight feet, clad only in his T-shirt and shorts.

Realty Firm Burglarized

Burglars took four rugs, two coffee urns and a wall mirror from a Broadmoor Realty firm over the weekend, Broadmoor police reported Monday.

Officer Al Nickas said that the articles were discovered missing at Kokkos Realty, 3201 Junipero Serra Blvd., by an employee when she went to work Monday morning. Officer Nickas said no cash was taken nor was anything else disturbed. Entrance to the office was probably gained by working on the exposed latches of one of two entrances, he said.

NEW SHOPPING CENTER—Ground will be broken Thursday, July 12, for the St. Francis

Square Shopping Center. Located at St. Francis boulevard and Southgate avenue in Daly City, some 37,000 square feet of additional shops will be constructed during the summer and are expected to open to the public about October 1.

Groundbreaking Set For New Shop Center

City officials will meet with architects and builders at 10 a. m. Thursday to celebrate the groundbreaking for the new St. Francis Square Shopping Center, located at St. Francis boulevard and Southgate avenue in Daly City.

Miss Daly City, Nancy Angelot, will be present at the ceremonies.

In addition to the 19,200-square foot Safeway store and Mobil oil station presently at the site, some 37,000 square feet of additional shops will be constructed during the summer.

Leases have been signed for Ben Franklin Store and merchants in the drug, liquor, dry cleaning, coin wash, beauty shop, women's and children's wear, gift ware and barber shop fields.

A high ratio of parking spaces to floor space will be a feature of the center, with room for 147 cars. Architects are the nationally-known firm of Wurster, Bernardi & Emmons. The builder will be MacDonald, Young and Nelson, who have constructed shopping centers throughout the west for many years.

Invited to the groundbreaking were Mayor Joseph Verducci, city councilmen Robert St. Clair, Edward Dennis, Frank Pacelli and Michael DeBernardi, Police Chief Roland Petroschi, Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy, City Engineer William Chapman, City Manager Edward Frank, members of the firms of Wurster, Bernardi & Emmons and Young & Nelson.

'Sleeping' Car Cleanup Urged

City Councilman Edward Dennis has requested action to sweep up so-called "sleeping cars" in the City of Daly City.

He said that too many autos are parked for days on end, hampering the efforts of street cleaners.

The city ordinance states that cars are to be impounded if abandoned over 120 hours on a public street.

LOCAL BUILDING CODES PROTECT THE CITIZEN

Few persons understand building codes.

Who enforces them in Daly City? Why are they necessary? And what do they mean?

The city of Daly City building inspection department, headed by building inspector George Hopman at 134 Hillside boulevard, requires building permits for the following:

- 1) Buildings of all types (garages, accessory, patio enclosures, etc.).
- 2) Additions, alterations and repairs.
- 3) All types of plumbing installations.

(4) Dishwashers, garbage disposals, water softeners, etc.

(5) All types of lawn sprinkling installations.

(6) Gas piping and all types of gas appliances.

(7) Electrical installations—wiring of all types, appliances.

(8) Fences over six feet high.

Building codes, said City Engineer William Chapman, are "designed to protect the public."

People cheat themselves by not getting a building permit, he said, because failure to obtain a permit could result in the loss of insurance benefits.

Also, Chapman added, persons should insist on proper enforcement of the building code.

"Otherwise they never get what they pay for in a home."

Public Outcry

When the reader picks up the morning paper to learn that fire, earthquake, wind, flood or structural failure has again taken its toll of life and property, he may be assured that within twenty-four hours there will be a public cry "there ought to be a law."

The lawmakers of the jurisdiction concerned will likely meet in emergency session to produce a law to fit the exact case. Thus has been woven into the wrap of the world's history, an interesting, if somewhat hazardous skein of building law through the centuries. Read the account of Lanciani, historian on Tacitus' story of the failure of a temporary grandstand:

"Tacitus relates that in the year 27 after Christ, a certain Atilus, a man sprung from the lowest classes of the city, obtained the right to build a temporary wooden amphitheatre near Fidenae. An enormous crowd met at Fidenae, to enjoy the novelty of the exhibition, and at the same time to enjoy an excursion upon the green valley of the Tiber. These spectators had scarcely taken their seats on the wooden steps, when in a moment, and with a terrific crash, the whole structure gave way, and buried under its ruins the entire assembly.

Strengthening Needed

"Tacitus, who had at his disposal and who consulted the official reports of the police, assure us that the number of dead and wounded amounted to 50,000. The town was struck with profound terror and amazement. Noblemen turned their palaces into hospitals. Matrons and maidens of aristocracy took the office of nurses. The Senate made new regulations for the safety of public places of entertainment. Atilus, the author of the Fidenae slaughter, was only banished from Rome and from Italy."

Tacitus may have erred on the side of large figures but there can be no doubt that the building law needed strengthening for fire and structural safety and sanitation.

Minimum Standards

The purpose of the local building code is to provide minimum standards to safeguard life or limb, health, property and public welfare. It regulates and controls the design, construction, quality of materials, use and occupancy, location and maintenance of all buildings and structures within the city.

The Code applies to the construction, alteration, moving, demolition, repair and use of any building or structure within the city.

Building inspector George Hopman is authorized to enforce all the provisions of this Code. Hopman keeps a permanent account of all fees collected together with the location of the building to which they relate.

Upon presentation of proper credentials, the building official or his representatives may enter at reasonable times any building, structure, or premises in the city of perform building inspections.

Last year the city charged $56,018 for building, electrical, plumbing, gas appliances and gas and sheet metal permits.

3-COUNTY RAPID TRANSIT SUPPORTED BY SF CHAMBER

Support of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's proposed three-county system has been unanimously voted by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce board of directors, according to Harry A. Lee, Chamber president.

Action of the Chamber board followed recommendations of its Mass Transit Section, of which V. S. Herrington is chairman; the Regional Problems Section, Roy N. Buell, chairman; Civic Development Committee, Edward C. Sequeira, chairman, and the Street, Highway and Bridge Section, Leonard S. Mosias, chairman.

Lee also emphasized the importance of the system to the economy of the Tri-County Bay Area Rapid Transit District. Of the district plan, which would encompass San Francisco, Contra Costa and Alameda Counties, Lee said:

"Rapid transit is an absolute necessity if the San Francisco Bay Area is to retain its historic role as the business, administrative, cultural, entertainment, world trade and retail center of the West."

The elaborate network of transit routes, Lee said, would be financed by general obligation bonds of $790,493,000 for construction of fixed elements; $133 million in surplus Bay Bridge tolls (already committed by the State Legislature) for construction of an underwater tube, and an estimated yearly net of $10 million in system revenues for purchase of necessary rolling stock and guarantee of maintenance.

The system, Lee explained, encompassing the counties of Alameda, Contra Costa and San Francisco, would consist of 75 miles of double-track routes, 20 miles of underground, 31 miles of aerial structure and 24 miles of surface line. Its hub would be a four-mile underwater tube, exclusively for trains, from the Ferry Building to the Southern Pacific Mole in Oakland.

In San Francisco the system would be in a subway beneath Market street with a subway on either side of the Twin Peaks tunnel to make possible express operation of existing Municipal Railway streetcars.

Elks To Present Annual Circus In Redwood City

Variety will spark the presentation of the annual circus, sponsored by Elks Lodge No. 1991, coming to the Sequoia Union High School Stadium on Wednesday and Thursday, July 18 and 19.

In an effort to include every ingredient of circus entertainment in its 1962 edition, Polack Bros. Circus, producers of the show, will feature wild animals, thrilling high acts, acrobats, tumblers, unusual circus novelties and clown production numbers properly blended with typical circus music from a brass band under the direction of veteran bandmaster, Henry Kyes.

The wild animal feature of the show is Pat Anthony and his lions and tigers in an entirely new presentation, while among the more tame animals, the Besalou elephants, the Torelli Sisters and their dogs, Joe Zoppe Troupe, bareback riders and their rosinbacks, will appear.

Two brand new novelties will lend added variety to the show. The Jungoves, a mobile perch presentation, appearing for the first time in America, and Miss Liane, a single trapeze beauty from Vienna, are on the bill. An assortment of other circus highlights, many recruited from the major indoor circuses of Europe, include the Florida Trio, comedians, and the Seven Stars of the Great Teeterboards.

This year, the show will present four brand new clown specialties as well as familiar "walk-around" featuring the white-face jugglers, Lal Haviland, Jolupa, Al Ackerman, Johnny C. and Harry Dann and a Newly organized Explorer Post 156 of San Francisco Council, Boy Scouts of America, were guests of Honorable Melvyn I. Cronin, Judge of the Superior Court, on Monday at the Youth Guidance Center.

Explorer Post 156 is sponsored by The Athens Club of San Francisco, Explorer Scouts and their Post Advisor, Robert Tealer, toured the non-restricted areas, where they observed complete operation of Youth Guidance Center.

Explorer members of Post 156 of McLaren Park District are: Purce Anthony, 34 Northridge road; Clifton Despanie, 30 Northridge road; Robert Henderson, 828 Northridge road; Vernon Palston, 222 West Point road; Kelly Peltier, 18 Northridge road; Booker Wilson, 68 Northridge road; and Bobby Wisinger, of 40 Northridge road.

Good Citizenship Honors At Stonestown

Good citizenship in the West of Twin Peaks Area is receiving its just acknowledgement with a "Man, Woman and Club Project of the Year" contest which began July 5 and runs through Friday, August 3, sponsored by the Red Chimney Restaurant and the Stonestown Merchants Association.

According to Stan Dimoz, manager of the Red Chimney, and Jerry Magnin, president of the association, anyone may nominate an individual for the "man" or "woman of the year" that is thought to be deserving for their contributions to the neighborhood or community west of Twin Peaks.

Nomination forms may be obtained at any of the Stonestown stores and at the Red Chimney. Forms also will be mailed to clubs and organizations in the area as well.

The contest closes August 3 when all forms must be mailed to or deposited at any Stonestown store or at the Red Chimney Restaurant. A panel of three judges will select the winners and two runners-up each in the "man" and "woman of the year" contests as well as the most outstanding club projects of the year.

Trophies will be awarded to the clubs judged having the most imaginative project, the most successful project and the most civic-minded project.

The winners will be announced, with awards of merchandise certificates presented at a banquet to be held at the Red Chimney in early September.

Knowles Avenue

The streets will serve as a major link between Mission and Alemany boulevards. Knowles will become one-way eastbound and Los Banos one-way westbound.

Largest expense in the project is for purchase of real estate for some 16 lots where Los Banos and Knowles will merge together at Mission street and Junipero Serra. Twelve homes will be carved out between Santa Barbara and Mission. Four homes will be demolished between Niantic and Junipero Serra.

Niantic street, which presently jogs, will be straightened and will run across both Knowles and Los Banos. Santa Barbara will be abandoned between Knowles and Los Banos.

Among the most exciting objects were the jawbone and the teeth of the Seven Gill Shark, several jawbones from the Bat Sting-Rays and a Nile Perch fossil, dating back to approximately 4,000 B.C. Many specimens sealed in plastic blocks were also exhibited for the children.

Visitors present at the unusual demonstration were James Thompson, principal of Benjamin Franklin Summer School, Mrs. Marjorie Yates, elementary curriculum coordinator and Mr. Leonard Sarkon.

Auto-Torium Store For Westlake

The Westlake Shopping Center will soon have the newest and most modern auto accessory and installation center in the Bay Area as final negotiations were completed this week by Auto-Torium Stores and Henry Doelger Builder, Inc.

The new unit, located at 53 Southgate Avenue, will be the sixth store in the Auto-Torium chain, and is scheduled to open in October.

The new Auto-Torium store will have 6500 square feet of space devoted exclusively for customer parking and service, and will feature the most up-to-date facilities to assure rapid installation and service.

"Most people today find it more convenient to have a tire, battery and auto accessory store adjacent to their residential area rather than in a congested downtown area, he added.

San Francisco's largest auto-accessory chain, Auto-Torium stores carry one of the most complete lines of safety equipment as well as tires, batteries, seat covers and all accessories. The store will be open six days a week and will have a staff of eleven for customer service.

Eugenio Marrero Serves On Carrier

Eugenio Marrero, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon J. Marrero of 1136 Bush ave., Vallejo, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Oriskany, which has joined the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

The Oriskany will be in the Far East for seven months. Crew members will visit ports in the Philippines, Japan and Okinawa.

The Seventh Fleet is responsible for the United States military support of the South East Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO).

Exhaust Afterburner; Engineering Challenge

Why is it taking so long to get an exhaust emission control device for automobiles?

This is the question asked most frequently of members and the staff of the California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board, first such agency to be established by any State. Function of the MVPCCB is to test and certify devices to reduce major sources of automobile-created air pollution.

As far as crankcase or engine emission devices, the MVPCCB has been amazingly successful. Up to June 19, it approved seven different systems. California's cars have had a crankcase device since the first 1961 model was sold in the State—now a total of 850,000. And starting with the 1963 models, all American-made cars will be equipped with crankcase control systems.

Used In England

Their development has been swift and effective because they are relatively simple in operation. Most of the devices consist of a tube and small valve which permit the flow of crankcase or "blowby" gases from the manifold into the air intake or carburetor. Unburned hydrocarbons that formerly were emitted into the atmosphere through a road draft tube are thus reduced 90 to 100% on the new cars upon which such systems are installed.

In principle the crankcase device has been around for a long time. English vehicles have used a blowby apparatus for more than 20 years to reduce engine wear. The U. S. Army has had something similar for many years to prevent oil sludging and to realize fuel economy.

But the exhaust device is something else again. It is an entirely new concept. It must be able to take care of nearly 150 different kinds of exhaust gases, principally hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide. Of course, some pollutants are emitted in such minute quantities they are not worth bothering with.

In an afterburner type of device, in which the gases are ignited by a special spark plug and consumed, the device must withstand extremely high temperatures, sometimes as high as 2,200°F. If the device is a catalytic or chemical type, then the catalyst must resist coating by gasoline additives without rapid deterioration.

High Standards

In both cases, California, in the public interest, has set extremely high standards. For instance, the devices must operate effectively for 12,000 miles without replacement of a major component. They must be safe, create no added noise, odor or heat, and be reasonable in cost.

A Big Order

This is a big order. But added to all this are such engineering sticklers as where to put a device in a car design already loaded with accessories, how to have it operate equally well for all types of drivers, driving patterns, and under all types of driving conditions.

MVPCCB engineers find that no two vehicles have the same pattern of exhaust emissions. Maintenance, age and engine type have much to do with what comes out of the tailpipe. Yet the exhaust device should work as well on the old clunker as on the showroom-fresh model.

Some devices are equipped with a bypass valve which acts as a built-in safety mechanism. Other devices that operate perfectly in factory tests rumble like Napoleon's cannon when placed on California's official test cars.

These problems are admittedly difficult. They have been called the toughest challenge ever to face American engineering ingenuity. To meet this challenge more than a $1 million a month is being spent on research, so lack of funds is not the answer.

Youth Leaps

Firemen reported that by the time they arrived at the home, the living room was filled with flames and the intense heat had caused most of the windows to burst from their frames. They were able to control the fire in ten minutes.

Damage was estimated by Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy at $4,000. Police reported the youth's mother was at Lake Tahoe.

Triumphs Of Inner Space

Outer space with its rockets and astronauts is so dramatic that we may overlook another frontier of science — the inner space of our arteries and veins. The battle here is one in which all healthy adults can take part and in which triumphs mean health and longer life for our friends, our families and ourselves.

On this frontier, we learn from the July issue of the American Legion Magazine, we are doing very well. Thanks to research launched in World War II, writes Tom Mahoney in an article, "ABC's of Blood," we have learned more in the past 20 years about handling and using blood than in all the previous centuries.

"While other countries have contributed to the advances," he says, "most have come from American laboratories. In the vital inner space of arteries and veins, the United States leads the world."

We are now transfusing our blood at the rate of more than 5,500,000 pints a year. Since May 27, 1961, the American Association of Blood Banks and the American Red Cross have cooperated in a reciprocal clearing house system under which blood needed by a patient can be supplied and credited to him by a relative or friend perhaps hundreds of miles away.

Surgery has been revolutionized by the availability of this blood. Open heart operations, for example, are possible only because of extra blood. It has also helped cut the toll of auto accidents.

But the increased use of blood makes the need for donors greater than ever. If you are between 21 and 60 and in good health, you should give blood regularly to your nearest bank or collection center. It is painless and your body replaces its volume in a few hours.

"It is a great thrill," writes Mahoney, "to see a patient, perhaps a child, come out of shock and back to life with blood that you have contributed."

Yes, Ham Is Still Ham!

Ham is ham, regardless of type — and no less an authority than the United States Supreme Court has affirmed that fact.

Back of this statement lies a story — a story of bureaucratic arrogance which has received the reprimands it deserved.

A great many people nowadays prefer moist hams, as against the old-fashioned dry hams. So the packers, whose job is to meet any reasonable public demand, have been adding water during ham curing. There is no question here of purity, of mislabeling, or anything of that sort. And the price charged for different types of hams, moist or dry, is based on the actual amount of ham the buyer gets.

But the Secretary of Agriculture, reversing previous policy, demanded that the packers put an "imitation ham" label on hams to which water is added. The matter went into the courts. A lower court denounced the order in unusually strong terms, calling the demanded requirements fantastic and deceptive. The case moved on to the Supreme Court, the final tribunal, which on June 11 refused to listen to arguments on the question involved. This means that the lower court's ruling stands — and that hams which originate in a pig are real hams, not imitations.

So consumers will be able to buy properly labeled hams of the type they like, moist or dry. And the right of business to produce a legitimate desired product and the right of consumers to have access to it has been upheld.

Abdication Of Freedom

One of the most menacing trends of the times, and one which seems to be given far less public consideration than its importance demands, has been the steady extension of the hand of central government into affairs that always before were regarded as the proper province of individuals and of private organizations.

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, posed the problem in these words during his speech to the graduating class at Trinity University: "To suggest that the problems of competition and profits can best be solved by government — which has neither the specialized talent nor the experience to do the job — is tantamount to rejecting the entire concept of free enterprise. Moreover, to encourage government — either actively or by default — to assume the decision-making responsibilities of private enterprise, comes

by JACK WOOD

San Mateo County public schools will continue to impose study requirements beyond those prescribed by the state.

The board of education decided that art and music will continue to be required in San Mateo County although the state does not include these subjects in its course.

The state requirement for sciences is that it be taught in grades six, seven and eight. The board will continue to require that sciences be taught in grade one. The same is true of civics and health courses.

The state requires geography and history at grade four, whereas the county requirements will remain at grade one.

Phillip R. Donner, 944 Serena drive, has offered the services of himself and his DPKW "Duck" to perform beach rescues, clean the Linda Mar beach and be on call to all beaches on a 24-hour basis.

Nancy Angelot, Miss Daly City, will be among celebrities at a ground-breaking ceremony Thursday, July 10, for the new St. Francis Square Shopping Center in Daly City. Nancy will compete July 19 in the Fiesta Dream Girl contest sponsored by the San Mateo County Fair.

Stallings said it would be too expensive to subsidize an emergency service at Junipero Serra hospital in Colma.

"WHY?"

By Paris B. Simmons

It is important to remember that just because the enemy stops firing momentarily, the battle is not over. Figures prove that juvenile delinquency always takes a decided drop during the vacation months, to return stronger than ever in the fall. There are many reasons for this.

During the summer months many of the children are away from their homes at camp, or on vacations. Many are gainfully employed. The recreational programs of the community are in full swing and provide outlets for energy. Associations by the non-delinquent with the delinquent are not as opportune as during the school year. And, the parents, by the very presence of the children at home for the entire day, are more aware of their needs.

Not Defeated

It would be most unwise to believe that the problem of juvenile delinquency has been defeated. The gangs are still in existence, although very dormant at this particular time. They will continue to be in existence until substitutes of a worthwhile nature are discovered.

The writer was very inspired, recently, by a visit from Rev. Palmer Russett, pastor of a Lutheran Church in Iowa, his lovely wife, and three children. Rev. Russett is very active in the mental health program of his community, which has some 7,000 residents. Interested citizens, cooperating with church and civic organizations have established their own mental health clinic, which is most active in working with children. In addition, the community supports a "home-ranch" for a small group of emotionally disturbed children, which has had some fine results.

Whitewashing

In the discussion with Pastor and Mrs. Russett on similarities of juvenile problems, on a geographical basis, the conclusion consistently reached, (and so frequently referred to in this column), is that the repeated attempts to whitewash the juvenile delinquency problem, is one of the most serious handicaps in attempting to obtain solutions. This is true not only locally, but throughout the country.

Mrs. Russett discussed her work with youth guidance in Chicago, and later as an eighth grade speech teacher in Minneapolis. The needs of the emotionally disturbed child for giving and receiving love, having adults understand the rebellion necessary to growing up, and being wanted and needed, were particularly significant points.

The necessity for interested citizens to work towards solution of their community problems, as individuals, or in organized groups received the endorsement of these two dedicated citizens.

The problem of reading difficulty was thoroughly discussed, and it was the opinion of all those present that this was one area which could not be neglected by any community attempting to overcome the delinquency problem. The inability to read becomes a serious matter with a child by the time he reaches the fourth grade. If this inability is left untreated and he progresses through life his potential as a delinquent increases daily while his chances for success fade rapidly.

dangerously close to an abdication of freedom itself."

There are areas in which government regulation, of an understanding and reasonable nature, is in the public service. But when regulation becomes a virtual synonym for domination and bureaucratic bossism, the structure of freedom on which this nation was built and which made it prosperous and strong is gradually eaten away.

Watch The Warrants

Some of the best advice ever given a university graduating class came from Dr. Wallace Sterling, president of Stanford University, at this year's ceremony:

"Any invasion that government legally makes upon your purse, property or person, it does with the warrant you have given it."

"If you are indeed genuinely concerned with the enjoyment and expression of your individualism, I hope you will examine with care any warrant you may give to government. Once given, it is difficult to recover."

The whole history of our time is scarred and darkened by these warrants — which result, of course, in the steady erosion of liberties of every kind. We've been luckier if not wiser than most peoples, but that doesn't mean we'll necessarily continue to be. The price of liberty is still eternal vigilance.

The View From .. Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

The Sergeant . . .

When it comes to promotion, most police departments resemble the old peace-time army of pre-World War II days. In those times, old soldiers will relate, a man did well to acquire one chevron to go with each hashmark. One might gather, then, that promotions came slowly. So it is with the present-day police, and so it has always been with the police.

One man in five may expect to rise above the rate of sergeant. In order to so ascend, the ambitious man must first aspire to the sergeancy. It is here that most men fall by the wayside, for the road of study is long and hard, and the waystays of appointments are few and far between.

The police are a career service, and few men leave it voluntarily. Those whose perseverance and luck combine to place their names upon a sergeant's list have not yet won their battle. Their names must rise to the top of the list before the name can be selected for appointment; and before an appointment can be made, a vacancy must exist. A vacancy is created, rarely, as the result of an expansion of the force. More likely, the vacancy is created as a result of retirement, death, or other promotions. Probably more men than not see promotional lists run out a full life span without that all-important name being selected.

The police are hard men, made so by the very nature of their work. Most would risk life and limb for a fellow officer, while on duty. While off duty, most men would go to considerable effort to assist a working mate's family, contributing money or donating blood when needed. With regard to promotional lists, however, the more ambitious of these hard-bitten types are likely to ascribe to the Kipling-esque toast of "war, bloody war and the sickly season." They might inquire (solicitously?) after the health of an ailing aspirant who is located higher up on that all important list, or they will fume impatiently at a delayed, expected retirement.

It can be estimated that, for every civil service promotion, a man successfully makes in the police service, he sacrifices one full year of social life. He does his work, and he maintains his family, and he studies. How he must study! He masters entire volumes, from which one or two questions may appear in the ultimate written examination. He reads, and re-reads, and works practice examinations on paper. He wades through all of the codes which are pertinent to his calling, including penal, vehicle, health and safety, welfare and institutions. He will study firearms, ballistics, first aid, and will refresh his knowledge of legal evidence, and of photography. He will deliberate over the vagaries of search and seizure, mull the mysteries of Supreme Court decisions on civil rights, scowl over departmental rules and regulations, and curse his way through city ordinances.

The road of study is beset by pitfalls. How much easier it is to watch television today and put off study until tomorrow, and how much more enjoyable it would be to visit friends or relatives, or just to walk to another part of the house to see what the wife is doing. Noises interfere — the chatter of kids, the slamming of doors, as the young ones scamper through the house. The clatter of a lawnmower being employed by the next door neighbor is an interruption that rankles, as the cop knows well the state of his own lawn, and how much it, too, needs manhandling.

He is not an easy man to live with during this time. A wife's inquiries as to his progress are met with grunts or with silence. He grows at the children, and fumes inwardly when well-meaning friends drop in to chat. When tactful hints fail to dissuade such visitors, he goes into seclusion, and becomes a practicing hermit in his own abode. Directions, surly and direct, are issued to his better half: "I'm not home, see? Not to anybody."

She is understanding, this wife, and tries to give him his seclusion. The children are herded to a more appropriate play space, or she will drive them to a park for the afternoon, or take them to a movie. She is sure that she will pay in the hereafter for the lies she tells, on the phone and at the door, stories which place him as being away, dead, in a far-off land, anything to prevent interruptions. Finally, she draws a line more commensurate with her inherent honesty: "No, I'm sorry, he can't see you. He is studying. Only a moment of his time? No, not even a second. He'll bark at us both if he is bothered."

Alone, over his books, the policeman feels remorse over what he feels is his shabby treatment of his family. Then the wife tiptoes into the room and places a can of beer or a cup of coffee at his elbow, pats him understandingly on the shoulder, and tiptoes back out of the room. He is reassured, and buckles down to study with renewed vigor.

As the examination date draws close, study increases, as the candidate works himself up to a peak. He studies during the day, and after work, in the post-midnight hours. Officers gather together (not a good procedure, incidentally) to quiz each other, and to contribute individual observations on what to expect in the forthcoming test.

The day arrives and the policeman arrives at the testing place. He receives the instructions from the monitor and embarks upon his task. All of his work is either made or lost in the few sheets of paper he holds in his hand. He forces these thoughts from his mind, ignores the mutterings of other candidates, and concentrates upon the task at hand. The examination is surprisingly short when compared with the amount of study which was undertaken in preparation.

"These questions on interrogation are going to ruin me."

"Why all the emphasis on physical evidence? I'm likely to blow this exam sky high."

"Ah, I'm knocking these traffic questions cold. I'll beat this thing yet."

And he does beat it. The ensuing agonized weeks of waiting and with a mailed announcement that he has passed this part of the exam, and the setting of the date for the oral examination. And now comes preparation of quite a different type. The officer poses all sorts of situational problems to himself, in anticipation of what he will be asked at the oral.

The groomed and nervous candidate appears before the oral board. They are a sergeant, a lieutenant and a captain of police, each from a different, outside department, and they politely take him over the hurdles. They touch on his background, and his likes and dislikes, ask him about his arrests, and disciplinary problems, if any. Then they tackle the situational problems.

"One of your men is sleeping on the job. What do you, a brand new sergeant, do about it?"

These, and more. The policeman parries the questions. People do not frighten him, and he senses that these tough-looking police commanders seated opposite him are interested in his manner of answering and not necessarily in his specific answers. He is right. They like him, and he passes the second hurdle. Many other-

Something For Everyone

by

Samuel Chandler

Here is a ponderous title. "Observations on Life, Literature and Learning in America," by Henri Payre. Yet there is a message in this book that commands the attention of many American readers.

Its author, a French professor, writes that the "enjoyment of life may be said to become as nearly complete as possible when a disciplined intelligence moves with delicate vigor to encompass the rich variability of experience and to search out the secrets of sorrow and joy with the aid of pity, irony and hope." The value of literature is to supply the pity, irony and hope.

If one accepts Mr. Payre's thesis, he must realize that most of the writers represented on the best seller shelves in average public library do not create literature. They do not, in the first place, discipline the minds of the readers. They do not move the readers to ponder the secrets of sorrow and joy that is to be found in the lives of all men.

Such books are widely read as a means of escape from the routines of life. As such they are akin to the so-called soap operas and the various types of television programs. In this they have their value.

It seems to me that a wise reader will take time, however occasionally, to look at all kinds of books. The best sellers have their purpose, but they can give mental indigestion if they are the soul diet.

What is true of books is also true of TV and all other types of communication. As Mr. Payre writes: "The value of life lies in its enjoyment, not, of course, the kind of enjoyment that kills time but the kind that fulfills time."

wise good men freeze up at this point, and ruin an otherwise excellent effort.

Our man is first on the sergeant's list. Upon receiving his appointment, his old watch traditionally hands together for a party. Wives are invited. All hands, the successful and the disappointed, are present. A present is conferred upon the new sergeant. These people have fought tooth and nail for the appointment, but most of them do not bear a grudge, and wish the fortunate man good luck in his new capacity.

It is a proud and rewarding moment when the sergeant, and the little women who helped him along the way, cuts the cake purchased by the men whom he nosed out of the job, a cake that is inscribed: "Congratulations, Sergeant."

"Sergeant" sounds funny to him when it is applied to his name. He'd best get used to it, however, for they will all expect him to look and act like the sergeant he has become, and to BE the sergeant, when he next goes out on the street. And this is the toughest, most crucial part of the test.

Squeals Of Delight At Swimming School

The raucous squeals of delight reverberate through the structure, giving the atmosphere of a gay festival. A belly flop makes a loud snap, which can be heard by the spectators up in the balcony, and the little boy climbs out of the pool smiling bravely with water dripping from the dimple on his chin.

The scene is the Summer Swim School at the spacious indoor pool at Jefferson High School.

Every day, Monday through Friday, for six weeks, this scene is duplicated. The school is sponsored jointly by the Jefferson school district and the American Red Cross.

Headmaster at the swim school is Michael Orlich, the popular and colorful basketball coach at Jefferson. He is ably assisted by Norm Cady, the swimming coach at Jefferson; Mrs. Arleen Smith, Mrs. Nancy Brown, Miss Phyllis Thomlinson, Dave Iwahashi and Don Craig. The seven instructors are all accredited in life saving and teaching.

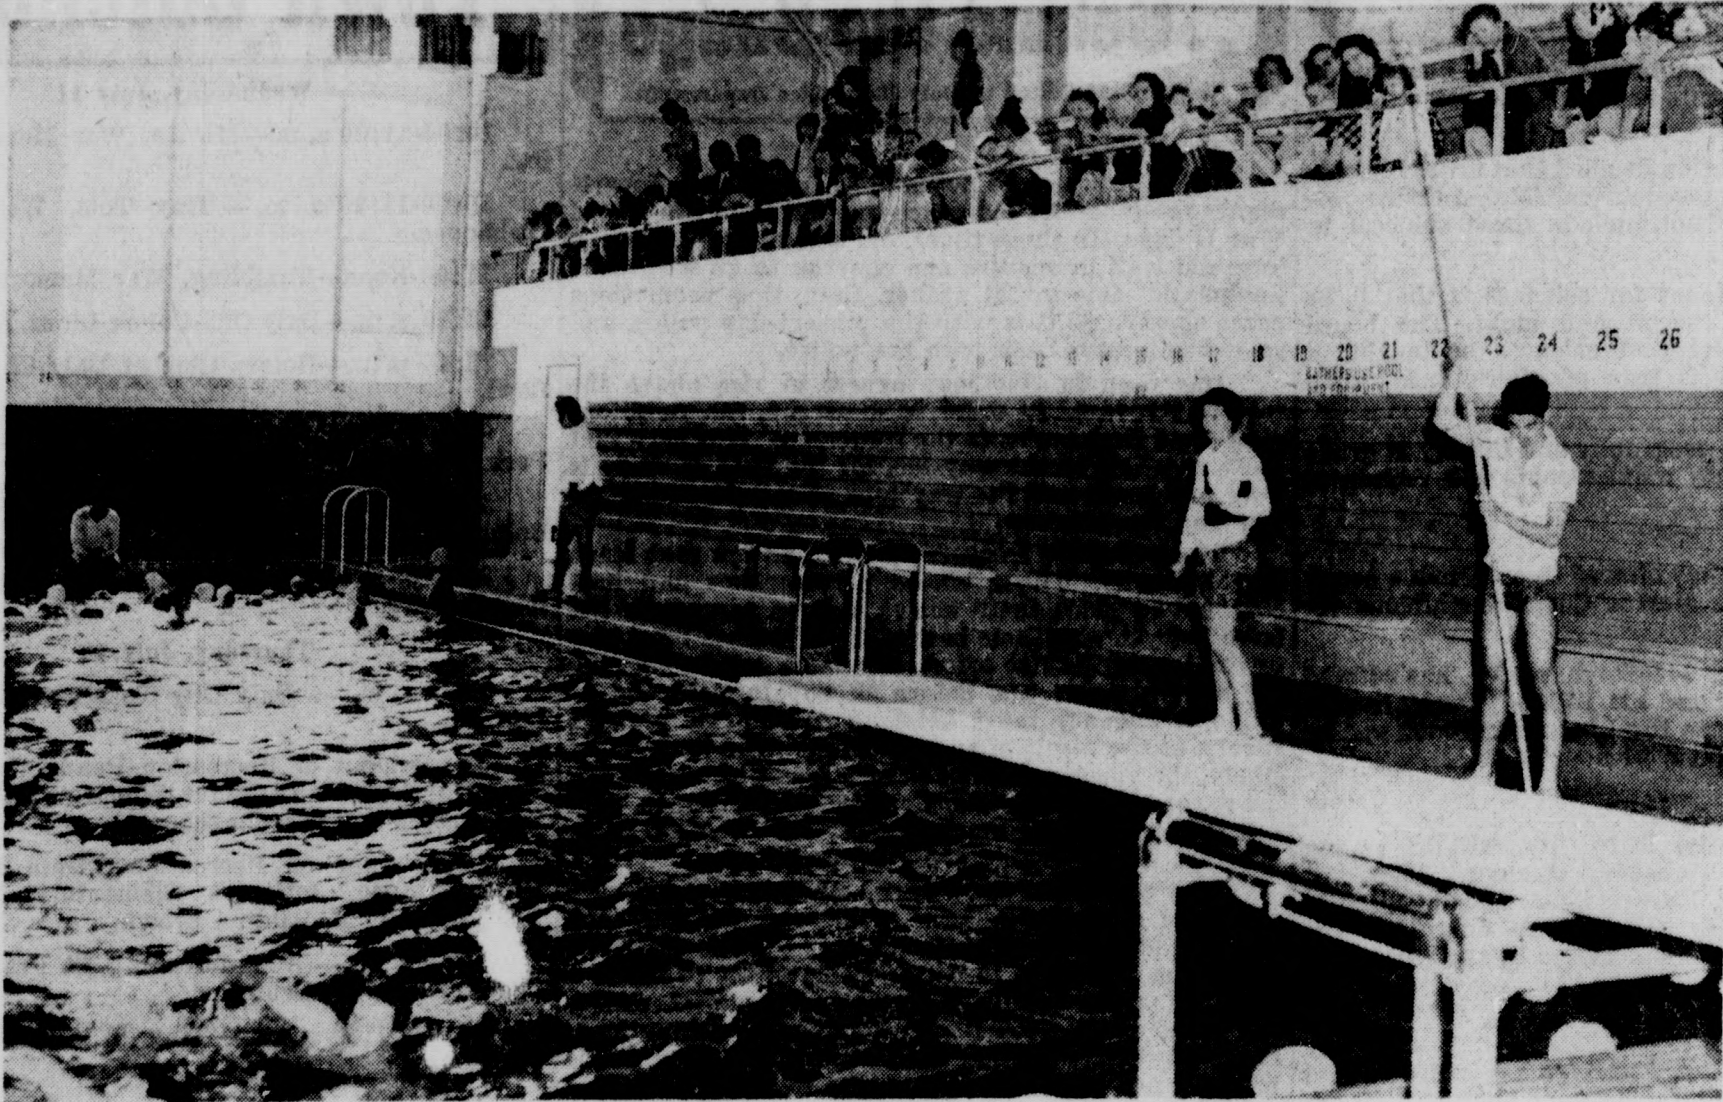

The teachers split each class of about 100 youngsters into seven smaller groups and work with them individually to help them master swimming. The classes range from the first exposure of water by a child in the shallow end to the little expert who swims the length of the pool several times.

As each child progresses, he passes a test and is moved up to the next instructor.

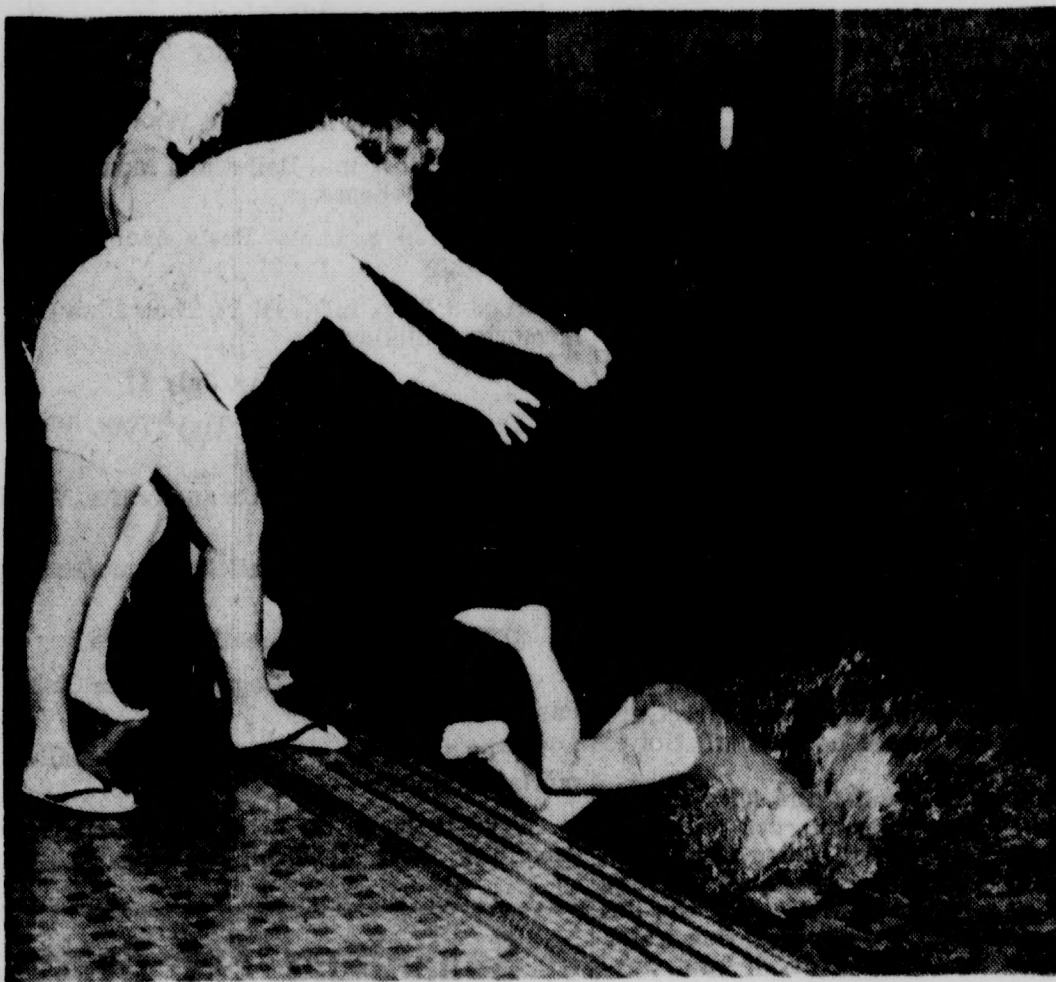

At the conclusion of the two week course, the instructors hold a graduation exercise. Each youth advancing to intermediate swimming must pass a stringent swimming test. At the conclusion each child is presented with a report card and, if he or she passes the rigid test, receives a Red Cross swimmer's card.

The school graduates 550 children every two weeks. There will be two more sessions this summer. The next session begins July 16 and the final is July 29. Parents may register their children by coming down to the pool on opening day.

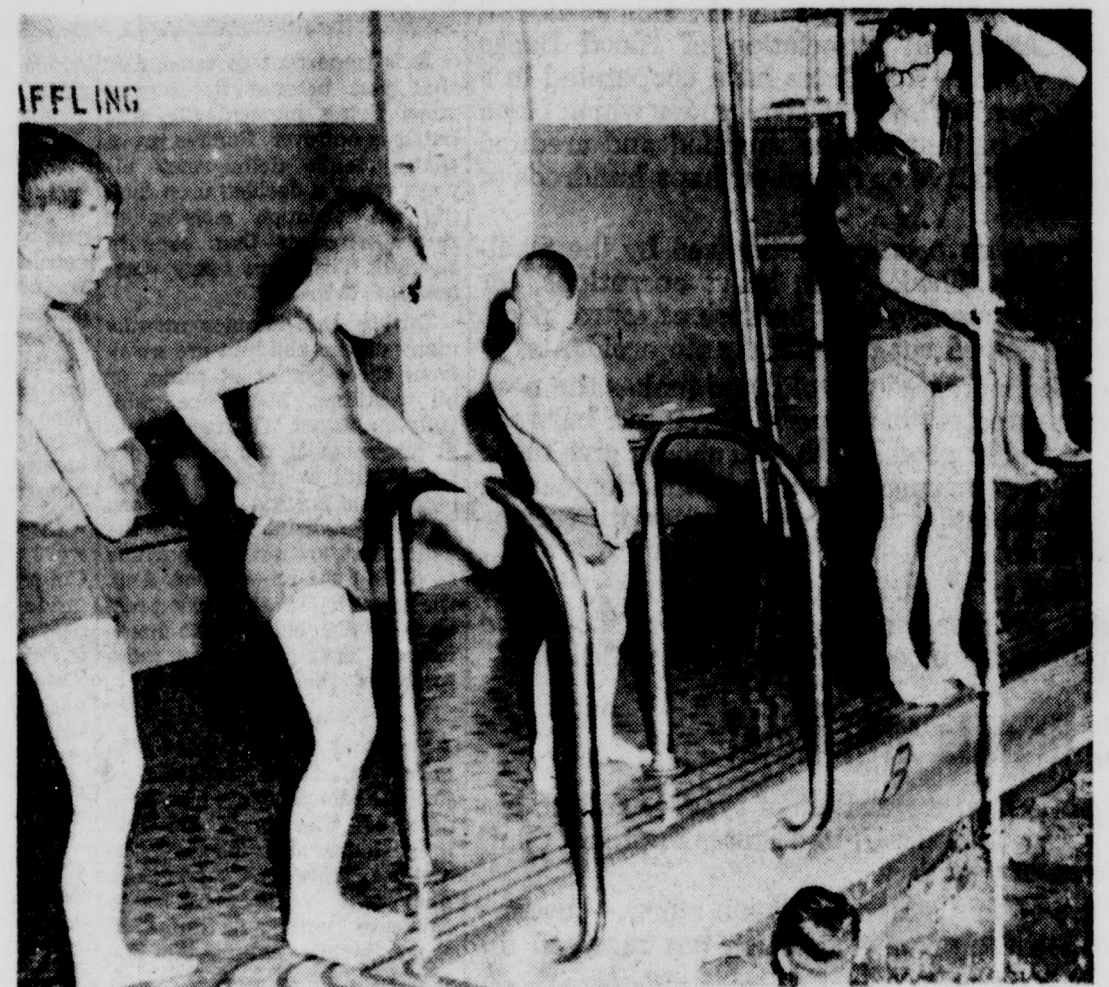

"This program is constructed to make good swimmers out of children while they are young," said Orlich. "You never know how many lives are saved by a school such as this," Orlich concluded.

RECENTLY MARRIED at St. Martin's Episcopal Church in Daly City were Allene Downey and Don Howard Nicholson. The bride's parents are the Rev. and Mrs. Allen J. Downey, 94 Palmdale Avenue, Daly City. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Nicholson of Memphis, Tenn.

Bride Married At Father's Church

Cathedral baskets of white gladioli, stock and carnations flanked the chancel steps of St. Martin's Episcopal Church when Allene Downey, daughter of the Rev. Allen and Mrs. Downey, became the bride of Don Howard Nicholson in a lovely afternoon wedding, followed by a reception.

Her gown was an exquisite full length white silk organza Chantilly lace bodice and a buff skirt with a front panel of lace while a fingertip length veil of illusion cascaded from a jeweled crown. Her sister, Marilyn Downey, was maid of honor and wore a gown of pink organza with a portrait neckline.

Bridesmaids included Janet Nicholson of Memphis, Tenn., sister of the groom, and Diana Palmer of Pomona, cousin of the bride. Their aquamarine chiffon gowns featured gathered skirts with satin cummerbunds and their illusion veils were scattered with seed pearls.

Ring bearer was Robert Alan Nicholson, brother of the groom and best man was William D. Onn. Ushers were Joseph Downey, brother of the bride; Edward Cutter III, Richard Tully, Ernest Fox and Kendall DeBevoise.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, the Rev. Allen J. Downey, who is minister of St. Martin's Episcopal Church in Daly City. Long-time friend of the bride's family, the Rev. Albert E. Jenkins of Whittier, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Allen Downey, wore a green silk faille dress with beige accessories while Mrs. Howard Nicholson's costume suit was of Italian silk in the color of toast with accessories of darker tone.

Allene graduated from Westmoor High School with honors and has been attending Stanford University, where she will receive her Bachelor of Arts degree at the end of the summer session. She recently returned from Stanford-in-Germany campus at Stuttgart, where she was a student for six months.

The groom is a graduate of Stanford University with great distinction and member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity. He will enter John Hopkins School of Medicine in the fall.

Baptist Church Renews Lease

The Westside Baptist Church had its largest Sunday morning worship service attendance on Sunday, since the church was organized on April 1, 1962. The church just recently renewed its lease with the South San Francisco School District for the use of Southwood School, Southwood drive and Hill streets, and now has use of additional class space, for the ever increasing Sunday School departments.

On Wednesday evening, July 11, a group of laymen and laywomen will be doing some additional church survey work, seeking to enlist the unchurched of the community.

The Mid-week Bible Study and Prayer Hour, will meet at the parsonage, 232 Mansfield drive on Thursday evening, at 7:45 p.m.

On Sunday morning, July 15, the pastor will be speaking at the Morning Worship Hour on the topic, "We Would See Jesus." Then at the evening Gospel Hour, which convenes at 7 p.m., the pastor will continue in a new series of messages on exiles people give for not embracing Christianity. His topic will be, "Too Great A Sinner."

Alton Swedberg, Sunday School Superintendent reminds the public that Sunday School meets at 9:45 a.m. and there is a class for all age groups. The Westside Baptist Church is affiliated with the Northern California Baptist Conference and the Baptist General Conference.

Visitation Church Mothers Plan Picnic

Do any of your car wheels creak when you turn a corner? It may be a loose bolt, points out the National Automobile Club.

Loose bolts, permitting the wheel to wobble, cause one of the most rapid forms of tire wear.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES WILL HOLD ASSEMBLY

The Daly City congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses expects to be well represented at the coming three-day district assembly to be held in the Oakland Auditorium, July 13-15, according to James Turpin.

Turpin has temporarily replaced Harold Casperson as the presiding minister of the Daly City congregation while Casperson is attending an advanced school of ministerial training in South Lansing, N. Y.

He says that approximately 120 from Daly City will attend the gathering.

Turpin pointed out that in harmony with the assembly theme, "Courageous Ministers," courage and unity among Christians will be emphasized. "Courage to continue in one's Christian obligations is essential in such trying times," he declared.

The Oakland meeting will be one of five district assemblies being held in California this summer and will attract delegates from the greater Bay area and central California. Attendance is expected to reach a peak of 8,000.

In discussing the effect on the family circle, Turpin explained that parents and children alike will benefit from the program consisting of Bible talks, demonstrations and discussions.

"Children will not be left at home nor shunted aside for separate attention. Parents will serve as day-long instructors to teach and train the youth. This will greatly aid in strengthening the family unit," Turpin concluded.

Speakers from the Bay area and central California, including six circuit ministers, will appear on the program.

The convention climax will be reached at 3 p. m. Sunday, July 15, when L. F. Kraushaar speaks on the subject, "Take Courage — God's Kingdom Is at Hand!"

Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church

Sunday, 9:00 and 10:30 a.m.—Two morning services. Sermon: "Lost Among the Laws."

The psalmist says, "God's laws are good. We would never want to live in a community that did not have law and order. But, are we a society lost among the laws? Are we a people who know the laws, knowing right from wrong?"

9:00 and 10:30 a.m.—Sunday School sessions—Children and adults, beginning with age three through adult Bible classes, may enroll. Nursery care provided for infants during both services.

Runyon Characters Play In Oakland's Guys, Dolls

Much has been written about the gorgeous "Dolls" appearing in Frank Loesser's "Guys and Dolls" opening Woodminster Amphitheater's 12th Annual season and playing its last two weekend performances Friday and Saturday evenings, July 13 and 14. The theater is located in Joaquin Miller Park, off the Warren Freeway, Oakland.

However, very little has been said about the "Guys," those Damon Runyon "characters" so wonderfully chronicled in his many newspaper articles that thrilled the public for years from coast to coast. Woodminster producer-director John M. Falls says: "We have made every attempt during the many weeks of rehearsal of 'Guys and Dolls' to keep these big-city characters as authentic as Runyon would have wished them."

"We now have put together one of Woodminster's greatest musicals, set to the magnificent music and lyrics of Frank Loesser, who has one of the greatest lists of song hits in America, except possibly Irving Berlin, who was at it much longer," Falls continued, "While the story and characters are Damon Runyon's, the actual book was by famed Abe Burrows and Jo Swerling, and we are very proud of the way in which we have adapted the many famous characters to the extra-large outdoor stage at Woodminster. "I know you will enjoy hearing and seeing them appear under the unique sets ably prepared by our Tom Doyle and his crew."

Business Gals Dinner On July 16

The Christian Business and Professional Women's Council will hold its monthly dinner meeting Monday, at 6 p.m. (prompt), July 16, at the Women's City Club, 465 Post street, third floor.

Tom Olson, from Yosemite National Park, author of many tracts, nationally known Bible teacher, will speak.

Also an orchid display from Rod McLellan. Their representative will tell us about the plants and the many varieties of this beautiful flower.

Special music by Ron Fuller, pianist, music teacher and organist.

Call MO 4-1517 for reservations, or just come. Friends are invited.

Lawrence Welk To Appear On July 19

Lawrence Welk, vintner of television's famed "Champagne Music" and leader of one of the nation's most popular dance bands, will appear in concert at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium next Thursday evening, July 19.

The purveyor of smooth music will be accompanied by his entire troupe for the one-night-only engagement, part of a summer tour of major cities. He ended a successful three-week engagement at Lake Tahoe's famous Harrah's Club just last Sunday.

Tickets for the show are on sale now at the Crane Box Office, 245 Powell street, at $5, $4, $3 and $2, tax included.

HILLTOP MEET — During the annual picnic at the 11-acre site of the new Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City recently, San Francisco's new Archbishop, Joseph T. McGucken, got a chance not only to see the site for the first time, but more importantly to meet some of the prominent politicians who run the north end of San Mateo County. In the picture above (left to right) are James V. Fitzgerald, supervisor; Joseph Verducci, mayor of Daly City; the Archbishop; T. Louis Chess, chairman of the board of supervisors; Frank Pacelli and Edward Dennis, Daly City councilmen, and Leo J. Ryan, mayor of South San Francisco and Assemblyman-elect. Fifty or more of the top community leaders of the North County area and of San Francisco who are interested in relocating Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City attended the picnic.

The recent concessions made to the plumbers has furthered to put labor in a bad light with the American populace.

We are not anti-labor, but we do feel that the plumbers' union has overstepped its bounds in demanding a salary of $7.55 an hour within three years, coupled with an eventual five-hour day.

The ludicrous concession has also furthered to widen the gap between business and labor. Big business also will now make outlandish price demands, using the plumbers' wages as a rationalization point for higher prices.

But the most terrifying prospect of this concession is that other strong, skilled unions will follow suit.
It is just a matter of time before the electricians, the carpenters and the brick-layers also make a similar demand. And you can't blame them in a way, now that the door is open.

The people who are going to be hurt are the unskilled and semi-skilled people, which make up the large majority of the Nation's population. While prices soar, due to the increase in wages of some and their new buying power, the majority are going to be caught in the squeeze.

The result will be an inflation which will precipitate further strikes and further unemployment.
The gap between middle class and lower-middle class will be further widened and a larger lower-lower class will evolve. In 1965 a call from the plumber could be something like this:

"How do you do m'am, I am your friendly plumber," says the gentleman, stepping out of his chauffeur driven Cadillac plumbing truck.

"What seems to be the trouble? Ah, I see, a leaky water heater," he mutters while devilishly wringing his hands.

"I must call in three other plumbers for a consultation on this—it won't be bad—only $7.55 per hour for each of us," he says matter-of-factly.

The four plumbers go into a two hour session and emerge with a grim look on their faces. "We are going to have to perform a major pipe-switch operation, m'am," says the leader. In the meantime the leaking water has risen to about two feet.

"Are you on the 'Blue-Wrench' plumbing plan or do you have 'Kraiser Pipe Foundation'?" the plumber queries the lady of the house.

"Neither, you see we have been having a rough time of it lately. My husband is only a banker and you now how far a banker's wages go with the prices
so high these days," she solemnly asserts.

"Well, don't you worry lady, we will fix it up as cheap as possible. Of course you know that we must use tools and that will cost you extra. One left-handed monkey wrench runs about $14.20 per hour,
not including depreciation costs," the plumber says, removing the three diamond rings from his hand as he readies for the operation.

After four hours of toil over the heater (including four half-hour coffee breaks... Union rules stipulate that the plumber must take one half-hour break every hour) the job is completed.

"We got by on a shoe-string, m'am," says the smiling plumber. "The bill comes to only $976.30, not including tax," he retorts proudly.

Later that night the husband comes home and the wife tells him that the vacation is cancelled, the college fund for junior dissolved and the TV set is back at the finance company.

"But we have lovely water pressure," she joyfully adds.

It was reported last week that those Alcatraz lads used a raft to flee their island paradise. It seems that they were well learned on the subject of raft building because the book on raft building at the prison library had been checked out to them.

We wonder if that book was on the same shelf with others of the same variety, including "How to Stab Screws" and "How to grow Marijuana in the Latrine" both wonderful prison classics.

While on the same subject a South San Francisco Postal employee reports to us that a post card went through the new SSF PO recently addressed to Warden Olin Blackwell with the simple message in large bold letters, "WE MADE IT."

Westlake Miss Aids Community

By Garry Niver

While the newspapers blare out the juvenile problems of a community, they often forget and overlook the creative talents of the youngsters who make up the majority.

The bad gain infamous notority, while the good go unnoticed and unmentioned.
Becky Robb, 12, a student at Benjamin Franklin Junior High School is one of the latter. The petite youngster, who found a lot of time on her hands this summer, as many youths do, decided to channel her efforts towards a creative project.

Becky, who lives with her parents at 787 South Mayfair avenue in the Westlake section of Daly City, founded a puppet-making class for kindergarten children at the start of summer vacation.

Her idea for the class came from a magazine and, with the help of a Westlake librarian, she assembled the information on the different types of puppets and how to make them.

After attaining data on the almost extinct art of puppetmaking, Becky recruited several of the neighborhood
youngsters for her first class.
Classes were held daily from 10 to 11:30 a.m. and were met with enthusiastic response by both the children and the mothers.

Puppets were made to resemble characters from nursery rhymes which the children had memorized.
"Humpty-Dumpty" was made from a potato; "Old King Cole" constructed from paper
mache; "Little Miss Muffet" from a light bulb, and "Mis-stress Mary" from cloth.

Friday afternoon, June 29,
Becky and her class put on a puppet show for the mothers of the children to commemorate the graduation of her first puppet-making class.

The financial profits were small, but the rewards of creativity, achievement and appreciation, of both children and mothers, left Becky feeling well paid.

Becky, though her endeavor is unique, is just one of the fine youngsters in the Daly
City area whose constructive talents towards building a better community go unnoticed. The majority of these youngsters go unrecognized, but somewhere along the line a reward comes in the form of personal satisfaction of bettering the community.

Bank Of America To Honor Frank Zanini

July 12 is a date Frank Zanini, who lives at 53 Garibaldi street in Daly City, is not likely to forget.

For on that date in 1937 he took a job with Bank of America which has stretched into a quarter-century career in banking. And 15 years later, on July 12, 1952, he married the former Shirley Leveroni and set up housekeeping in Daly City.

This double anniversary will be specially meaningful this year as Zanini accepts the congratulations of his fellow workers at the bank's head office and pins on for the first time a diamond lapel emblem making him a member of the elite
Founders Club for 25-year men.

Zanini's banking history begins in Santa Barbara 17 years after he had arrived as an immigrant boy from Italy to join his father, a rancher in nearby Carpinteria. On July 12, 1937, the young man, newly graduated from Occidental College, went to work at Bank of America's Santa Barbara main office.
Over the next few years, his responsibilities there grew, and in 1946, he was named operations officer and promoted to assistant cashier.

He left Santa Barbara in 1950
to enter personnel work, first at Los Angeles headquarters and a year later at the San Francisco head office, where he advanced to head of the personnel research section.

He took up trust work at the head office in 1957, and received the title of assistant trust officer two years later.

San Cruz County is called the begonia capital of the nation.

Since that time he has specialized in tax transactions for properties and estates managed by the trust department.

In ten years since the Zaninis were married, the family has grown to five—including nine-year-old Joan Marie, David, aged 7, and Christopher, born last April.

Zanini is president of the Holy Name Society at Holy Angels Catholic Church, and last year was chairman of the Daly City bond drive for the Jefferson Union School District.

Marine Cadet Takes Aviation Training

Marine Aviation Cadet Wesley K. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley V. Smith of 604
Stoneyford drive, Daly City, recently completed six landings aboard an aircraft carrier operating in the Gulf of Mexico as part of his training as a naval aviator.

Student naval aviators make the landings aboard the aircraft carrier USS Antietam. Before making the landings at sea, they are required to qualify on airfield landing strips simulating a carrier's flight deck. Thus, the students adjust to landing on the restricted areas found at sea.

The landings take place in the final phase of flight training. When training is completed, students receive the "Wings of Gold" of a naval aviator.

Within a few days the fate of the baby American Basketball League will be known. The fledgling child, who tottered through her first year last season on rather unsteady pins, is in great danger of being buried under by the National Basketball Association.

The leaders of both leagues are getting together to decide whether the Cleveland Pipers, last year's ABL Champs, should be admitted to the NBA. If this happens it is predicted that the rest of the ABL will dissolve.

The NBA, which was content to sit back on its haunches and not expand—with the exception of Los Angeles—suddenly became cognizant of other lucrative areas.

Now we don't wish to deprive the NBA of establishing new franchises but it is the way it went about it which makes us somewhat irked.

The big brave NBA didn't risk a cent to find the top areas. It was the American Basketball League, which on a large chance, assembled a group of intrepid investors and experimented in the new markets.

It was a helluva chance and the majority of investors ended up in the red last year. But in some of the areas, such as Cleveland, San Francisco and Kansas City, the prospective for the new season is highly favorable. The 1962-63 year was a predicted success and the investors, who had already developed slight ulcers, breathed a small sigh of temporary relief.

Their tranquil condition was short-termed however as the Big Daddy NBA decided to move on new areas.

The first move was the moving of the Philadelphia Warriors to San Francisco. The Warriors, together with their giant, Wilt Chamberlain, "decided" that San Francisco is a good basketball city.

They gave little consideration to George McKeon and his San Francisco Saints. McKeon poured a lot of good money into the outfit last year to obtain such stars as Kenny Sears and Mike Farmer. He was looking forward to getting at least part of it back this year.

Now the Saints future looks awfully bleak. For one thing, San Francisco is definitely not a two-basketball team town. With the Warriors moving in and Bill Russell and Elgin Baylor coming to town to duel the Stilt, it looks like the Saints will fold.

San Francisco never asked for the Warriors, but they got them anyway. If the Pipers join the NBA, and it looks as if they will, the ABL could be run out of business.

If the American Basketball League folds, lots of money will be lost and it will hurt sports in the future where new frontiers can be created. This move will leave a lot investors afraid to back any similar undertakings in the future.

Let us hope that somebody steps in and stops this merger before it is too late.

ON THE SIDELINES . . . The death of professor John Cahill of the Cahill Judo school has left many youths saddened in the North County area.

The Judo school not only taught good, clean competition and sportsmanship, but straightened out many a youth who was about to take the wrong path. His death leaves a large void in the community and the sports scene of San Mateo county.

Let us hope that his capable sons and brothers continue the Judo school in the same exemplary manner that professor John Cahill did.

Joe Bollentini, Jefferson high's All Peninsula League football star departed for San Diego and the U. S. Marine Corps earlier this week. Bollentini was a starter for three years on coach Joe McGrath's Indian eleven.

Westmoor will lose their top track coach Bob Blevins to new Oceana high school when school starts in September.

Blevins moves to the new school over on the coastside as director of athletics. A well deserved position for the hard-working mentor.

Former All PAL baseball star Gil Ullery of South SF still hasn't lost any of his baseball prowess. The speedy shortstop, who once turned down a contract with the Cleveland Indians, looked like a pro in a softball game at Orange Park last Sunday.

Another South SF product, Jim Fregosi, was recalled up to the Los Angeles Angels last week from Dallas-Fort Worth. The 20-year-old phenom drove in four runs his first week up and enjoyed first place in the American League for two days.

Sport's World Mourns Passing Of John Cahill

A host of civic dignitaries and some of the nation's outstanding judo instructors attended funeral ceremonies yesterday for John K. Cahill, one of the most respected judo figures in northern California and long-time leader in South San Francisco youth activities.

Mr. Cahill, 50, died at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco on Thursday, July 5, after a long illness.

Slightly more than a month ago, the City of San Francisco had proclaimed "judo week" in his honor and cited him for long service to the city.

Mr. Cahill was head of the Cahill Judo Academy, which holds classes both in South San Francisco and San Mateo. His classes number about 200 students, some 150 of them being youngsters under 16 years of age.

Followers of the sport long have recognized him for the conduct of his students on and

By GARRY NIVER

Charles Vincent

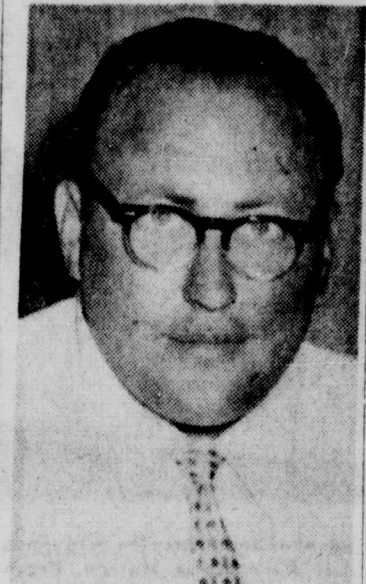

The main offices of the Daly City recreation department are in the huge War Memorial building at 144 Hillside boulevard. In these offices, Charles Vincent, Daly City director of recreation and his staff daily create and direct activities which service the youths and adults of Daly City in 19 supervised recreational areas.

Last year, a total of 105,749 youths and adults were counted during the ten-week summer season, which runs from June 18 to August 24, at the various recreation areas.

The Daly City recreation center conducts such large group activities as visits to Candlestick Park for a Giant game, to periodical excursions to Skateland at the beach.

Vincent, who has been with

Ed Thomasello

the Daly City recreation department for four and one half years — two of those years as director — is ably assisted by Ed Thomasello, Eva Baldwin, Bob Blevins and Tom Pollicita. Thomasello, who is supervisor of recreation, and Eva, who is the recreation department secretary, are year around employees of the department.

Blevins, who is supervisor of special events, and Pollicita, who is supervisor of playgrounds, are employed during the activity-laden 10-week summer stretch.

A total of 33 recreation personnel are employed during the

The Huge structure houses the offices of the Recreation department and a large gymnasium.

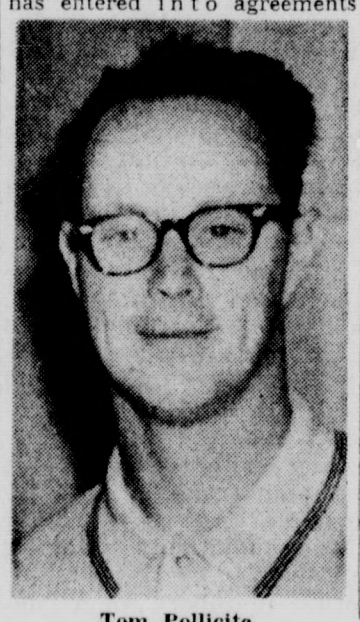

ten-week summer program.

Recreation facilities in the War Memorial building include a huge gymnasium, several activity rooms and a kitchen. The gymnasium is in operation the year round. During the summer program, the gym is open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and in the evenings from 7 to 10 p. m.

The gymnasium accommodates Daly City residents in basketball, table tennis, badminton, shuffleboard and dodge ball.

The War Memorial building, which was dedicated in 1954, also provides meeting rooms for various groups in Daly City. The Teen Club, which has about 900 members, meets at the center every Wednesday night. Last year a total of 34,886 people, representing 1,272 meetings, used the facilities. Of this number, 19,499 used the gymnasium.

The recreation department has entered into agreements with the Jefferson Union High School and Jefferson Elementary School districts in which school facilities are used by the recreation department during the summer and on weekends.

Tom Pollicita

The recreation department furnishes the staffing and uses the funds to make improvements and expansion on the areas. Currently the department and the high school district are jointly engaged in the installation of facilities at Westmoor Park.

Vincent, whose manners are quiet and modest, attributes much of the smooth-running success of his department to his aides. The department has continued to grow as Daly City grows. Since Vincent has been the director, the recreation department has:

(1) Entered into an agreement with the high school and elementary school districts.

(2) Installed two new baseball diamonds.

(3) Installed two new centers at Northridge and Paliades Park.

(4) Erected two new clubhouses, one at Lincoln Park and the other at Westmoor Park.

Almost every day of the summer the children of Daly City are kept busy attending ball games, Skateland, picnics at Golden Gate Park and fun days at the various playgrounds.

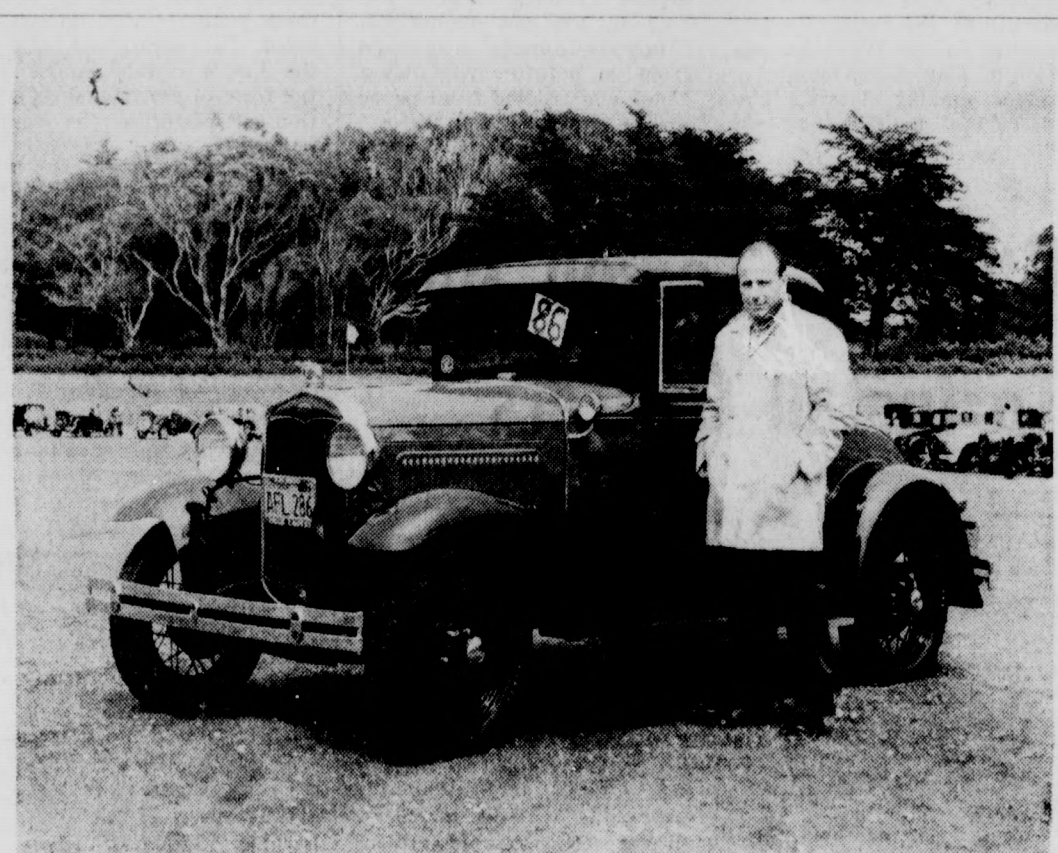

"I believe that our department is equivalent to or better than any recreation department in the Bay area," Vincent said. The happy faces and shrill, tangled voices at the various centers are a living testimonial of Vincent's statement.

Eastern Division Wins Midget All Star Game

The All Star teams from the Eastern and Western Divisions of the Daly City Department of Recreation's Midget Baseball League played a great game before the largest crowd in local midget history Wednesday, July 4 at Marchbanks Park. The Easterners prevailed 15-2.

The game was preceded by opening ceremonies in which the coaches and players were individually introduced. Following introductions, the players and coaches of the All Star teams joined the fans in the pledge of allegiance.

The game started with Ernie Marchant (PAL Constables) on the mound for the Eastern Division. Facing him was Bill Frahm of Parkmerced for the Western Division. Frahm started out by retiring the Easterners on five pitches.

Marchant took 11 pitches to retire the first three men. This was the parting of the ways. In the second, Frahm gave up a single, double and triple. Marchant went on to retire the nine batters he faced in order, fanning seven of them.

Paul McGlain followed Marchant on the mound allowing the Westerners one hit in three innings. Dave Speith finished the game for the Easterners giving up two runs and two hits. Russ Runge relieved Frahm but with little success as the Eastern All Stars scored with ease.

Eastern hitters were George Garber 2 for 6, Abe Shaffer 2 for 4, Jeff Becker 2 for 5, Bob Noland 3 for 5, and Bill Curran, Ernie Marchant, Paul McGlain, Bob Himm and Guy Kubowitz all in the single parade for a total of 15 hits. Russ Runge was the Westerners' best man with 2 for 3, including a long triple, to drive in two runs.

QFT's Arnie Andreacchi became the first no-hit, no-run pitcher in the South San Francisco Merchant sponsored baseball program Saturday when he led his mates to a 4-0 win over PAL No. 1, to highlight the week's play.

PONY LEAGUE

Andreacchi, who stopped PAL No. 2 on a 12-1 no-hitter, became the second pitcher to hurl a pair of no-hitters this season. Steve "double-no-hit" Sangunetti, pitched a five-hitter against him and was the loser. Andreacchi's effort featured 15 strike-outs. Wayne Barberatto drove in a pair of runs in third to give Andreacchi all the cushion he needed for the win.

Winston Shell hit the win column for the first time with a 14-8 decision over Botteff Construction company. A two-hit pitching effort from Don Culbertson, with Randy Willis blasting a grand-slam homer and a pair of round-trippers by Skip Nelson, paced the Shell attack. Harry Lucas accounted for four of the Botteff runs with a grand slam.

Miller Realty, behind Alan Paganucci's four-hitter, blasted PAL No. 2, 15-2. Paganucci, Ron Bennett, and John Moro all slammed doubles, and Jim McCowan and John Reynolds came up with defensive sparklers to highlight the Miller victory.

Clearite Trophy continues to top the Pony standings after having dumped the PAL Lieutenants in Saturday's action.

13-AND-UNDER

The PAL Captains moved a step nearer to the Eastern Division title Saturday by downing Buri Buri L&D 11-7. Wes Robinson slammed a homer and pitched the win as the Captains ran wild on the bases, stealing a total of ten sacks, including a theft of home by Rocky Andreacchi. Andreacchi and Moose Moran each had a pair of hits

Raiders And Bills Continue Swapping

The Oakland Raiders and the Buffalo Bills continued to swap players as the Raiders sent end Doug Asad to the Bills in exchange for guard John Dittich.

This is the third transaction between the two clubs in the past two months.

Asad, a regular for the Raiders over the past two years at the tight end position, was the leading pass receiver for the Oakland club last year with 43 receptions for 592 yards and 2 touchdowns.

Dittich returns to the Raiders where he was a regular starting guard for the club throughout the 1960 season. He was optioned to Buffalo last year and filled a regular starting position for that club throughout the latter part of the season.

In earlier trading the Raiders sent defensive halfback Joe Cannavino in exchange for defensive halfback Vernon Valdez.

Last Friday the Raiders announced a trade with Buffalo which sent running back Wayne Crow to the Eastern franchise for quarterback M. C. Reynolds and defensive tackle Chuck Mc Murtry.

for the Captains, while Ted Saverese and Ricky Edwards each collected a pair of singles to pace Buri Buri.

12-Mile-House scored three times in the last inning to squeak by Starlite Hofbrau 15-14 in a game which saw a total of 33 base hits.

Dan Perez slammed a two-run double and then scored the winning run on Vince Olson's triple to pace the winner's 17-hit attack. Olson had four hits, while Perez, Jim Henry and Craig Galli each had three hits to garner the win.

Van Beane slammed a homer and a double, and Gus Trono, Dan Tyler and Jim Hillard all had three hits, to top the

Saturday Night Drags At Half Moon Bay Strip

Top-notch drag racing resumes in Northern California this Saturday night when the Champion Speed Shop Special, recent conqueror of world titlist Don Garlits, takes to the asphalt at Half Moon Bay Drag Strip, 26 miles south of San Francisco on Highway No. 1.

The gates for time trials open at 2 p.m., with the elimination races slated to get under way at 7:30 p.m.

The Speed Shop Special from South San Francisco, piloted by Sammy Hale, defeated the World Champ "Swamp Rat II" at Half Moon Bay last Sunday. The champion Speed Shop auto is the current California state champion.

Sunday the big, powerful dragsters move across the Bay to the Cotati dragstrip for a day of competition.

Final Eastern Division morning saw Plaza Furniture score four runs in the top of the seventh to take a 6-1 decision over the PAL Inspectors. Ricky Ellars pitched the win, while John Bruno's bases-loaded triple and Paul Contreras three for three provided the offensive punch.

WESTERN DIVISION

Bayview edged St. Veronicas 9-8 in a see-saw battle that saw the score tied four times and the lead change hands six times to highlight 13-And-Under-Western division action.

Dale Torres slammed a two-run homer and pitched the distance for the winners, getting help from Ron Tarimino with a pair of triples. Dave DePue's homer topped the St. Veronica effort.

Earlier in the week Bayview dropped a 10-3 decision to Winston Drugs, and St. Veronicas edged the PAL Chiefs 12-10. Pete Drier's six-hit pitching and a two-run homer, and a triple by Mike Mathews, paced the PAL Sergeants to a 17-4 win over the Winston Dukes.

Jim Pappas collected four-for-four to lead the 18-hit attack as the Sergeants bounced back from a 7-6 loss at the hands of Winston Drugs earlier in the week.

Final Western loop play saw Kiwanis win a pair, taking a 7-6 decision over the Winston Dukes on Tuesday and then blasting the PAL Chiefs by an 18-4 count Saturday.

Against the Dukes, Mike Tryforos went the distance on the hill, holding them to three hits. John Castellanos blasted a two-run homer. Saturday, Kiwanis erupted for nine runs in the last of the sixth to take the win.

REC PROGRAM CONTINUES WITH VARIED ACTIVITIES

For the second week in a row, a group of 135 children from Daly City playgrounds were transported to Skateland and Playland at the Beach. All the participants west of Junipero Serra were as equally thrilled as their eastern companions with the spills and chills of speeding skates and the daring rides of the midway.

WESTLAKE PARK
(Joseph Sandoval)
During the last week, Westlake Park's summer recreation playground team, the Wilshire Wildcats, hosted a double-header baseball game with the visiting Allison St. Rams. Both games were won by the Rams, 12-8 and 6-1.

Tim Reiterman, Westlake

captain, was voted the most valuable player of the second game for his outstanding play at third base. He was also complimented on his good sportsmanship. Other Westlake Park players were Gary Berteljen (CF), Paul Vorsatz (C), Mark Rabinowitch (SS), Edward Molkenbuhr (P), Dennis Monahan (1st B), Karl Vorsatz (2nd B), Paul Molkenbuhr (LF), Sandy Rabinowitch (RF) and Jerry Hansen (sub, RF), Chris Gibson (sub, RF), Rusty Hampton (sub, 2nd B).

PALISADES PARK
Fred De Funiak
Palisades Park has become the center of some very fine kickball games. Some of the outstanding players are Jim Knauss, Rich Leverenz, Stan

Rudnick, John Dunn and Steve Perone.

GEORGE WASHINGTON
Dick Roza

Recently, a Four-Square tournament was held at George Washington School. Barbara Martin was the overall champion. She topped Junior Bulato in the finals. Others who finished as top contenders were Tim Boden and Hilda Rendire. Ping-pong champ at the present time is Obdulio Carcamo. Hunch basketball champ is Apollo Bulato, who is small but has a very good eye.

PAULINE BROWN SCHOOL
Jim Caranica

Last Thursday at Pauline Brown School, recreation leader Jim Caranica decided to have a "Twist Party." The girls, especially Theresa Garcia and Diana Miranda, were responsible for promoting the dance and bringing the records. However, the whole thing would have been impossible if Harvey Cohen did not bring his record player.

Best dancer was Diane Miranda, 10 years old, especially while doing the "twist" and "mash potatoes." Others participating were Don and Linda Giovannetti, Sam Garcia, Debbie Miranda, Gale Hughes and Donald McMillan. Some of the other kids who were enjoying themselves were Bobby Miranda, Mike Garcia, Bob Perry, Carolyn McMillan, Donald and Ronald Harwell, Peter Blachley, Craig Bradshaw, Kenny Kiler, Harvey Cohen, George Garcia, Frank Miranda and Don Hawkins.

JEFFERSON ELEMENTARY
Bob Brandt

This past week, there were two big events at Little Jeff. The first was a softball game against Colma School. Young Dave Nanini was pitching a no-hitter for seven innings when a couple of hits and some throwing errors resulted with four Colma runs, enabling them to come back from a 4-1 deficit to win, 5-4. Nanini with two hits and Steve Drago with a triple, single and two walks, were outstanding at the plate. Left-fielder Mike Ciardella was very good defensively, making several fine catches.

Standout for Colma was Chuck Kelley.

OLYMPIA
Garrett McDonald

Omar Lopez and Lou Williams will attempt to regain the senior division titles of the table tennis tournament, while Steve Green and Bob Bertoloni appear sound contenders in the junior division. Winners of each division will compete against other recreation areas.

NORTHBRIDGE PARK
Patricia Adams

Summer fun at Northridge Park is without baseball because the field is too small for the necessary playing area. However, it is not without baseball players. Three of the most regular visitors at Northridge, Val Sabuco, Gary Solari and Eddie Jestead are also starting players on their respective baseball teams.

Others at the park excel in different fields. Lee and Joey Biedermann are very good chess players; Steve Jestead is the "Sorry" champion of the area; and Rick and Steve Angell are good enough runners to be in the Olympics.

The boys aren't the only standouts, though. Carolann Solari is one of the very best kickball players, girl or boy; Mary Hunt can do any trick on the parallel bar; and Peggie Jestead is fast becoming the ace of the checker boards.

The most outstanding feature of all of these outdoor champs, however, is that they are all good sports and do not quit. So disagreements are rare and the biggest worry at Northridge is always the weather.

MARCHBANKS PARK
Diana Gazzano and Allen Abraham

An exciting Ring-a-Tac-Toe contest was held at Marchbanks on July 2. Bob Banos beat Kathy Nordquist in a thrilling championship game. John Dyer was runner-up in the contest.

Other participants were Wayne Morgor, Belinda Dodgens, Carol Perotti, Georgianna Nieve, Timothy Buckley, Jerry Rasmussen, Geraldine Nieve, Angelo Nieve, Ike Ford, Pauline Nieve, Paula Nieve, Jim Arment, Haneli Yasso, Sandra Dodgens, Ray Paccino, David Stava, Larry Paccini, Collis Dodgens, Emmitt Buckley and Kenneth Yasso.

National Loop In 3-Way Tie

National Division play has been thrown into a three-way tie for first place. Vying for the crown will be Jim Davis' OLM team, George Pedroni's PAL Tigers and Dick Collins' Holy Angels Shamrocks. These teams will play off for the championship this week.

In last week's action, the Holy Angels Shamrocks won, 14-9, over BYA Flying "A" for their tenth straight win. The Shamrocks came up with nine hits, including four doubles, and were gifted with 11 walks. Greg Kraljev, Larry Nanini, Pete Frates and Al Olese led the Shamrocks' hit parade, with Kraljev and Nanini each driving in three runs. Mike Gallagher came on in relief of starter Joe Rocky and saved the win for the Shamrocks after the BYA rally.

Sam Thomas played hero for the PAL Tigers in their 10-6 win over the Skyline Plaza Merchants. With the bases loaded and one down, Thomas was called on to put out the fire. Two straight strikeouts brought the situation under control. Nick Kosturas of the Tigers collected three hits, including a bases-loaded double.

Jim Davis and Dan Scannel combined talents to shutout All Hallows, 6-0, with a no-hitter. Davis' k'd not end and gave up four walks. Scannel struck out five and walked two. Davis also got three hits. Frank Knowlton one, and Frank Lawson two.

OLM downed Holy Angels Shamrocks, 8-6, in a thrilling game. Jim Davis came up with 15 strikeouts to his credit. Bob Frahm helped the OLM cause with three successful scoring squeeze plays. OLM's Dan Daly's outstanding defense play was overshadowed by that of third baseman Olese of Holy Angels. Rocky Collins caused Jim Davis some trouble as he got two hits, one with the bases loaded, for two RBIs.

The PAL Tigers came back like champions in the game with OLM, edging them, 8-7. OLM's Davis, Rossi, Knowlton, Lawson and Rickenbacker all singled in the first inning, scoring seven runs. But then Sam Thomas slammed the door in their faces, allowing only two more hits. Tigers' Mario Blandini, Telvis Jones, Val Sabuco, Larry Black and Thomas all hit well.

Kiddie Hunters Must Pass Safety Course

Hunting seasons are not far off, 1962-63 hunting licenses are now on sale, but again this year there will be a number of disappointed boys and girls who will miss out on an eagerly awaited first hunting trip.

This warning was issued by the California Department of Fish and Game in stressing the state law that requires previously unlicensed youngsters under the age of 16 to pass a hunter safety course in order to qualify for a hunting license.

Over 3,000 instructors carry on the hunter safety education program throughout California, and many classes are now being formed for youngsters who will be getting that big opportunity to make their first hunting trip with their dads this year.

Unfortunately, every year a few youngsters wait until just before the hunting season opens and then frantically look for a hunter safety instructor, trying to get in a last minute course. Since most of the dedicated volunteers who conduct these courses for the Department of Fish and Game are also keen hunters, they may already be on the way to their favorite hunting ground.

To avoid this disappointment don't wait, enroll your girl or boy now, cautions the DFG. Names of hunter safety instructors in your area may be obtained from regional DFG offices, your local fish and game warden, or any hunting and fishing license agent.

Winston Manor, National Trophy Top Pee Wee Loop

The PAL Chiefs and Brentwood Markets clash tomorrow at 6 p.m. at Parkway No. 3 in the Pee Wee League feature game of the week. Both teams are in second place with 10-3 records.

In last week's action, the Winston Manor Merchants and National Trophy retained their front-running standings. The Merchants blanked the Brentwood Markets 12-0, while the Trophy team was stopping the Southwood Merchants 19-3. Both teams are two games in front with 12-1 records.

In last week's feature encounter Sun Valley Dairy outlasted the PAL Chiefs 19-11 to move into a tie for second place.

After being held to nine hits the week before, the Dairymen erupted with their big bats for 19 runs.

Tom Buckley and Jeff Bennett lead the way with five hits each. Other top hitters were Mike Mackinnon with three hits and Dave Andreim with two hits.

Catcher Peter DiCorti paced the Sun Valley team on defense. The Chiefs erupted for four runs in the ninth inning, but couldn't sustain the rally. Frank and Howard Cavaco each banged out four hits for the Chiefs. Frank Cavaco also highlighted the defense by throwing out two runners at home plate from his center field post.

Daly City Youths Visit The Bounty

Many Daly City youngsters experienced their first cable car ride last Friday as recreation leaders Dick Roza, Bob Yerkes, Ed Higa, John Caffera and Paul Crowley led 35 children to Aquatic Park.

George Washington School, Lincoln Park, Frankfort Park and Woodrow Wilson School were participating playgrounds as the young people rode the cable cars, fished and played games.

Highlight of the trip was a tour of the old sailing ship, the "Bounty." Many youngsters were won over to the Navy as they daydreamed of the old windblown days of the sea. The children kept their dreams as they returned home after another day of Daly City Recreation adventure.

DC Youths Bike Through Park

Friday morning a group of 25 youngsters from Colma School and Jefferson Elementary School, with their Daly City recreation leaders Tom Skinner, Bob Brandt and Dave Ashworth, biked their way to Golden Gate Park and back.

Spirits were high and the pace was fast as the young people pedaled in the direction of the park. The spirit never lowered, but the pace was slowly reduced throughout the day as 25 miles were logged before the adventure was completed.

Misracks Stay On Pace

Sun Valley Dairy and the M & S Builders continue to top the Tri-City Midget League after playing to a 10-10 tie in last week's feature attraction.

This week's top action will see Sun Valley entertain the San Bruno Merchants at Buri Buri Park Friday at 6 p.m. M & S takes on the winless Sunshine Gardens Improvement Club Thursday at 6 p.m. on the same field.

Lou Lodgiani's three-run homer and Dan McVeigh's triple paced the Dairymen to their tie in a very well played game on both sides. Bruce Collins' bases-loaded triple proved to be the big hit for the Builders. Brad Brian and Larry Bernardini both added Builder triples, while Bob Collins doubled for the final M & S extra-base knock.

Steve Morello threw out Leo Bernardini from his post in the Sun Valley outfield to end the ball game after Sammy Perez had singled home the tying M & S tally.

Misracks Sporting Good kept pace with the leaders by topping the PAL Officers, 8-6, behind the five-hit, 15 strike-out pitching effort of Tom Owen and Bob Nolan.

Paintings cannot exceed 60 inches in length or height. Sculpture must not weigh over 300 pounds nor can it be too fragile for handling.

"All works of art must be framed and ready to hang with wire," Mrs. J. D. Fleming of the Peninsula Art association stressed. "Watercolors and other delicate paintings must be under glass," she said.

A non-refundable fee of $3.00 will be charged each artist regardless of the number of works submitted or displayed.

Exhibitors may enter their art works at the fine arts room, San Mateo Fair Grounds, July 14, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; July 15, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and July 16, 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The appointment of a city councilman to fill a vacancy on the council may be done in executive or closed session and not in violation of the Ralph M. Brown Secret Meeting Act, ruled Attorney General Stanley Mosk last week.

The Brown Act provides in general that all meetings of the legislative body of a local agency shall be open and public.

Section 54957 of the Act, however, makes an exception "during a regular or special meeting to consider the appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer or employee or to hear complaints or charges brought against such officer or employee, person or employee unless such officer or employee requests a public hearing."

A councilman, who was elected as city clerk, resigned his councilmanic post on April 10, 1962, and a new councilman was appointed in an executive session on May 8, 1962, meeting the 30-day period a special election would have been required. However, the closed session was valid as prescribed by the act in setting out the appointment powers of a local agency.

Request for the opinion was made by State Senator Stanford C. Shaw of San Bernardino County and was prepared by Deputy Attorney General W. R. Augustine of San Francisco.

Art Exhibit Aug. 3-11

At San Mateo Co. Fair

Rules and procedures for entering the Peninsula Art Association's exhibit at the San Mateo County Fair and Fiesta August 3-11, are being circulated early this year in hopes of attracting a record number of artists to the outstanding show.

All San Mateo county artists are eligible, although the popular exhibit is presented and run by the Art association.

This year each artist may submit three original works. This contrasts with previous years of only allowing two entries. The works may be oil, collage, tempera, casein, watercolor, gouache, pastel, prints, etchings, lithographs, block prints, mosaics, sculpture and other media.

Exhibitors may enter their art works at the fine arts room, San Mateo Fair Grounds, July 14, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; July 15, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and July 16, 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Request for the opinion was made by State Senator Stanford C. Shaw of San Bernardino County and was prepared by Deputy Attorney General W. R. Augustine of San Francisco.

Section 54957 of the Act, however, makes an exception "during a regular or special meeting to consider the appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer or employee or to hear complaints or charges brought against such officer or employee, person or employee unless such officer or employee requests a public hearing."

A councilman, who was elected as city clerk, resigned his councilmanic post on April 10, 1962, and a new councilman was appointed in an executive session on May 8, 1962, meeting the 30-day period a special election would have been required. However, the closed session was valid as prescribed by the act in setting out the appointment powers of a local agency.

Ordinance No. 563

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF DALY CITY REGULATING THE WATER SYSTEM OF THE CITY OF DALY CITY AND ESTABLISHING RATES FOR THE DELIVERY OF WATER.

The City Council of the City of Daly City does ordain as follows:

1. Historical Preamble.
Pursuant to general authority vested in it, the City of Daly City in 1913 established and has since owned and operated its own water system as a department of the City of Daly City. The Water Department during these years has produced and sold water throughout the City of Daly City and has been the exclusive water supply system for the City of Daly City. From time to time in the past, revenue bonds have been authorized and sold to provide funds for the operation of the water system.

2. Engineering Study.
In 1959 the City Council of the City of Daly City, in the interest of the preservation and enhancement of this valuable phase of the City's activity, caused a report to be prepared, and after approximately one year's study a report was submitted in May, 1960, by Washington and Associates, consulting engineers of San Francisco, California, which report has made several significant recommendations for the maintenance and expansion of the Water Department consistent with the needs of Daly City at the present and in the future.

3. Need for Rate Change.
The present rates for the distribution and sale of water in the City of Daly City are the same rates which were established in 1913. Increased costs of equipment and supplies, increased salaries, and a need for continuous improvement and enlargement of the system requires that the water rates be increased. The City Council particularly finds that in order to provide adequate fire protection as well as proper supply of water for consumption, larger distribution lines are required in many areas, particularly in the portions of Daly City first settled. It is the policy of the City Council at the present time to pay for such improvements from current revenues rather than to issue revenue bonds and incur higher costs due to the costs of interest and the sale of such bonds, and further due to the fact that an efficient program for the improvement of the water system cannot be accomplished at once, but requires a planned program over the space of time.

4. Ordinance Cumulative.
This ordinance is intended to be cumulative of all previous ordinances of the City of Daly City affecting the operation of the Water Department. Responsibility and authority which have been vested in employees in the past and decisions which have been exercised by them shall be ratified and approved. It is intended that this ordinance shall be the basic ordinance of the City of Daly City affecting the operation of the Water Department. All previous ordinances of the City of Daly City in direct conflict herewith, however, are to be deemed repealed.

5. Operation of the Water Department.
The City Engineer shall be responsible for all matters relating to construction, operation and maintenance of the water production, storage and distribution system throughout the City of Daly City, and he shall also be responsible for all property of the City of Daly City used in conjunction with the production, storage and distribution of water, whether located inside or outside of the City. Anything in this ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding, supervisory positions under the general authority of the City Engineer previously established within the Classified Service of Daly City by the City Council are deemed continued in effect, but the City Council may from time to time increase or eliminate the same in the manner provided by law.

6. Duty of City Engineer.
The City Engineer shall keep and maintain all water production, storage and distribution equipment and property in efficient operating order. He shall recommend to the City Council and to the City Manager such work in the nature of public projects which he deems necessary from time to time for the efficient operation of the Water Department. He shall supervise such projects as have been approved. He shall have general authority over the day-to-day operation of all employees whose duties relate to the operation and maintenance of the Water Department. He shall propose and recommend to the City Council rules and regulations for the operation of the Water Department, if in his judgment such are necessary.

7. Water Accounts.
The Director of Finance shall keep proper books and records relating to the operation of the Water Department and particularly showing the consumption of water by customers of the Water Department, and shall collect all water accounts promptly and efficiently. Bills shall be submitted to customers monthly, provided, however, that the City Council or Director of Finance may increase the frequency of billing if in the judgment of either such is dictated.

8. Water Rates.
Effective September 1, 1962, there is hereby established the rate schedule set forth in Exhibit A, attached to this ordinance and incorporated herein. Effective September 1, 1962, all water sold by the Water Department shall be deemed sold at the rates established in Exhibit A hereto.

9. Billing Schedule.
The Director of Finance, in order to simplify the procedure of billing, is hereby directed to prepare billing schedules predicated upon the rates set forth in Exhibit A of this Ordinance. Such schedule shall be submitted to the City Council for adoption by resolution prior to its use.

10. Payments.
All accounts shall be due and payable 30 days after receipt of statement by each customer. The Finance Director is authorized to disconnect water service to any water customer who has failed to pay his account within 30 days from date of receipt of statement.

11. Applications for Service.
Applications for water service shall be made to the Director of Finance on forms provided by him. All water sold shall be metered and sold in accordance with the rates set forth in Exhibit A attached hereto and incorporated herein.

12. Authorized Employees.
No person other than an authorized employee of the City of Daly City shall in any way tamper with any property of the Water Department or open or close any valve or fitting attached to any transmission or distribution line, water main or storage facility of the Water Department. No person other than an authorized employee of the City of Daly City shall tamper with or in any way disturb the function or operation of any water meter installed by the City of Daly City.

13. Use of Water.
No water sold by the City of Daly City to any user within or without the City of Daly City shall be sold for any purpose other than use or consumption on the premises to which the water is delivered.

14. Repeal of Previous Ordinances.
Ordinances Nos. 90, 122, 337, 416, 426, 451 and 531 shall be and the same are hereby repealed.

Ordinance No. 73 is repealed insofar as the same may be in conflict with any provisions herein contained.

15. Severability.
If any section, sub-section, sub-division, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be unconstitutional or otherwise invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The City Council hereby declares that it would have passed this Ordinance and each section, sub-section, sub-division, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sub-sections, sub-divisions, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional or otherwise invalid.

16. Definition.
As used in this Ordinance the word "production" shall mean not alone the development and pumping of water from wells but also purchase of water from sources of supply available to the City of Daly City.

17. Penalty.
Any person violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance and in particular any provision of Sections 12 or 13 of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor or upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding $300.00 or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each day such violation is committed, or permitted to continue, shall constitute a separate offense and shall be punishable as such hereunder.

18. Publishing.
This Ordinance shall be published once in The Record, a newspaper of general circulation published in the City of Daly City, California.

Introduced this 28th day of June, 1962.
